Department Compiling Information on Fatalities of Officers, Violators and Suspects.

STIMSON TAKES UP ATTACK ON U. S. BOAT

Asks for Treasury Report as to Firing on Customs Patrol Craft in Detroit River.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The casualty list of prohibition is being compiled by the Department of Justice.

In every state agents are looking both local and national officers killed in enforcing the Volstead act and also the violators or suspected violators of that law who have been killed.

This announcement was preceded by word that the State Department would study the latest incident in the Federal campaign against liquor smuggling along the Canadian border—the firing on an American customs patrol boat in the Detroit River.

The Justice Department said to special significance was attached to the compilation of the fatalities. The purpose of the survey was defined as merely to gather law enforcement information. Similar data already have been made available to the investigating commission appointed by President Hoover. The commission yesterday continued its secret sessions, formulating a program.

Asks for Report on Shooting.
Secretary Stimson asked the Treasury Department for a report of the Detroit River shooting. While he did not indicate his purpose, Government officials asserted that the identity of the liquor boat and its crew were established there was a possibility that the United States Government would ask Canada to deliver the men to the investigating authorities. Information reaching the Government indicated the attacking craft escaped into the Canadian waters of the river.

After the request of the Secretary of State, Assistant Secretary Lowman of the Treasury ordered, the customs authorities at Detroit to report on the shooting. Lowman said he expected to receive and dispatch the report to Secretary Stimson today.

"The firing upon customs boats by bootleggers is nothing unusual," he declared.

State Department officials said there had been no correspondence between the United States and Canada in connection with the recent concentrated drive of the American prohibition authorities in the Detroit River area against liquor smuggling.

Boundary in Center of River.
It was indicated in Government circles, however, that if shots were fired by American prohibition agents landing on Canadian territory, that Government undoubtedly would make inquiry of the State Department concerning the situation. The Detroit River is about a mile wide and the international boundary runs through its center, the officials said, in pointing out that the situation was fraught with such possibilities.

At the State Department it also was said the United States Government had anticipated the possibility of such a drive against liquor smuggling as now is being made when its representatives requested Canada at the Ottawa conference last January to make the export of liquor to the United States illegal, Canada refused.

Meanwhile announcement was made at the State Department that negotiations were progressing for arbitration between the United States and Canada of the sinking of the Canadian schooner I'm Alone last winter by a coast guard cutter in the Gulf of Mexico. It was said that the United States arbitrator would be selected soon by Secretary Stimson.

Crown Attorney Advocates Search of Liquor Boats for Guns.
WINDSOR, Ont., June 21.—Search of liquor boats by Canadian officials for firearms is advocated by Crown Attorney James S. Allan. Allan advanced his suggestion in opposing release on bail of Alfred J. # Text of Dr. Snook's Confession of Murder of College Student COLUMBUS, O., June 21.

THE text of the confession of Dr. James H. Snook, divisional Ohio State University professor, to the murder of Miss Theora Hix, university student, follows:

I met Theora Hix three years ago. The friendship continued in a very intimate way ever since, inasmuch as she was a very good companion. I have been living with my wife all during the three-year period, and regard my wife very highly and respect her as much as a wife but she lacked some of the companionship afforded by Miss Hix.

During the three years I knew Miss Hix I did assist her in many ways toward an education, but I found out it wasn't appreciated as much as I thought it should be. Our association was not a love affair in any sense of the word, but in time Miss Hix developed a more determined attitude in regard to dictating my movements and the final culmination of this occurred June 13, when I met Miss Hix.

At that time she was in a Ford coupe and proceeded to drive to the Columbus Rifle Range of the New York Central Railroad, during which she remonstrated with me against leaving the city with my family for the week end as I had previously planned to do. She threatened that if I did go she would take the life of my wife and baby.

During this quarrel she grabbed for the purse in which she sometimes carried a revolver which I had given her. In the struggle she was hit on the head with a hammer which she intended to stun her.

She continued to fight desperately, and an increased number of blows of increased force was necessary to stop her. Realizing then, no doubt, that her skull was fractured, and to relieve her suffering, I severed her jugular vein with my pocket knife.

I then proceeded to pick up the things that had been scattered during the struggle, leaving her body at that point. The instrument which I used to quiet her was a hammer which was lying on the back seat of my Ford.

After leaving the rifle range I then proceeded to go home. Miss Margaret Sander of Fort Wayne, fiancee of Latta, was named beneficiary of $40,000 worth of the accident insurance. Of this amount, $20,000 was held by the United States Casualty Co. and a like sum by the Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co.

nouncement, said he based his statement on an admission from Snook that he had taken a key from the crime police record made in the presence of several police officers. It set out the details of the alleged three-year friendship between the student and himself.

Earlier in the investigation of the crime, police uncovered the fact that Snook and Miss Hix maintained a room in a downtown apartment house where they stayed frequently, and Snook admitted it was his home. He said, however, that his association with Miss Hix was not a love affair in any sense of the word, but that it was merely a "pleasant arrangement."

He hoped to pay her university expenses and she was a "good companion," he said.

Two Principal Points.
Two salient points precipitated the confession—one Snook's admission that he had taken the key to their room from the slain student's keyring at the scene of the murder and the other coming just at the peak of the questions about the key, a report from Dr. C. E. Long, chemist, that stains on the professor's card and clothing were caused by blood.

While under the cross fire of questions until he admitted that he "took the key from the body," Snook was on the verge of collapse when Chief French's Secretary brought in the report.

Snook paid, and a few minutes later, the prosecutor said, he was sitting in a chair, talking freely and seemingly with a feeling of relief, Chester said.

Maxion T. Meyers, a member of the university horticultural expert staff and a former suitor, was arrested after the killing. He spoke of her friendship for Snook and the two were held while authorities assembled evidence. He was released Wednesday, and a day later the questioning of Snook began.

Two Men Jump on Running Boards and Take Money Meant for Cashing Checks.

Charles Hoebelein, proprietor of a soft drink bar at 3301 South Broadway, was robbed of $400 in cash and his automobile shortly before noon today by two men who jumped on the running boards of the machine at Broadway and Arsenal street and compelled him to drive to a point on Third street near Sidney street.

Hoebelein had drawn the money from the Chippewa Bank to cash pay checks for his customers. The robbers boarded his car, one climbed in beside him and the other took a position in the rear seat pointing a pistol at Hoebelein's head.

Arrested on Liquor Charge.
Thomas Savanna, 22 years old, against whom grand jury indictments charging illegal manufacture of liquor and operation of a still were returned Tuesday, was arrested today and placed in Clayton jail. His bond in each case was set at $10,000. When county authorities raided a house at 1347 Shawbury lane, University City, May 22, they found 126 gallons still in operation in the basement and several mash vats in a subcellar. They arrested Tony Vaccaro at that address, who implicated Savanna in the liquor operation. Vaccaro was charged with possession of liquor and released on bond.

CHARGES AUTO CRASH KILLING WAS SUICIDE

Insurance Firm Makes Assertions in Death of Indianapolis Attorney.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 21.—Charges that Will H. Latta, Indianapolis attorney, who was killed in a collision between a Monon train and an automobile on June 12, committed suicide and that circumstances surrounding the death indicate a scheme to defraud are contained in a letter sent to John S. Hunt, brother-in-law of Latta by the Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation. The company has denied liability on accident policy for $20,000 taken out by Latta only a few days before his death.

The letter to Hunt has been turned over by him to Frank C. Daily, Indianapolis attorney, together with two other accident insurance policies, one for $20,000 with the Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. and another for $25,000 with the United States Casualty Co. The expert testimony gathered by the Hartford concern also was taken out shortly before Latta's death. The third policy had been in effect several years.

Miss Margaret Sander of Fort Wayne, fiancee of Latta, was named beneficiary of $40,000 worth of the accident insurance. Of this amount, $20,000 was held by the United States Casualty Co. and a like sum by the Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co.

COUNTERTIFF REEF LABELS SEIZED IN RAID ON PLANT
U. S. Agents Visit Building at 18 South Second; Proprietor Confesses.

The source of some of the "Carling's Black Label" Canadian beer, dispensed by St. Louis speakeasies, was discovered by prohibition agents under Deputy Prohibition Administrator Dillon when they raided the first floor of a three-story building at 18 South Second street today.

Besides an assortment of counterfeit "Carling's" labels and caps, the agents found 35 cases of clear beer, a variety of beer, a complete bottling and capping outfit, including a tank with eight spouts, and several hundred pint bottles.

Louis P. Miravall, 25 years old, 529 Kennerly avenue, was arrested on the premises and admitted being the proprietor. He said he had started working only recently and had made and sold 150 cases of beer, a malt extract, and a complete bottling and capping outfit, including a tank with eight spouts, and several hundred pint bottles.

As no manufacture was in progress when the raid took place, Dillon announced that he would not apply for a warrant under the Jones law but would charge Miravall with possession of beer containing an illegal percentage of alcohol and possession of materials for manufacture.

ROBBED KILLED IN BANK HOLDUP
Companion Shot in Attempt on Moore, Ok., Depository.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., June 21.—One bank robber was killed and another wounded today in an attempt to rob the State Bank of Moore, 11 miles south of Oklahoma City.

The dead man was identified as Robert L. Von Alton, Pa., and the wounded man as Charles C. Healey of St. Albans, Long Island, N. Y.

The two robbers, by driving about town in an automobile, aroused the suspicions of bank officers, who posted an armed guard in a back room. Early this afternoon the men entered the bank and ordered Otto Hayes, bookkeeper, to hold up his hands. Hayes knocked one man down and the guard opened fire, shooting both men before they could get out of the building.

70 More Handbooks Raided.
Police raided 70 racing handbooks shops and arrested 75 men yesterday, as they continued their campaign to stop race betting by persistent arrests.

AIRPLANE USED IN BUFFALO HUNT ON SALT LAKE ISLAND

Herd Spotted From Air, After Which Sportsmen Landed and Brought Down Game.

By the Associated Press.

OGDEN, Utah, June 21.—A successful airplane buffalo hunting expedition terminated with the landing here yesterday of a Union Pacific Airways, Inc., plane with the carcass of a buffalo shot on Antelope Island in the Great Salt Lake.

The expedition, organized by Ernest Ford, flew from Ogden to the island, spotted the herd and landed after the Ford succeeded in bringing down one of the animals. Ernie Lognsbrake piloted the plane.

Members of the Weber County Fish and Game Association will have a buffalo barbecue Sunday as a result of the hunt.

OFFERING PISTOL TO PAY DEBT
Frank Matkin, an Expert Shot, Says Autos and Night Life Were to Blame.

Police Sergeant Frank Matkin, one of the expert pistol shots of the department, was dismissed from the force by the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday when found guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer. Matkin, who was assigned to the target range in the police gymnasium until a week ago, borrowed $15 from the janitor six months ago and instead of settling for cash offered the janitor an automatic pistol, which the latter was unwilling to accept.

Matkin said "automobiles and running around nights" accounted for his inability to live within his income. He is 40 years old and had been a policeman since March 12, 1920.

Ernest Crooms Denies Starting Second Blaze in Day; Arson Charge Filled.

Ernest C. Crooms, 30-year-old postoffice clerk, confessed to Constable Baumer of St. Ferdinand Township today, Baumer announced, that he started one of the two fires which damaged his rented residence 5221 Helen avenue, West of Walnut Manor, June 10. He denied starting a second fire eight hours later which was extinguished with little damage.

The physician's $500 home, signed by his attorney, was questioned at the time of the fires, but was not held after he told Baumer that he had no insurance on his furnishings. Yesterday, when Baumer learned that Crooms had $400 in insurance on his furniture, he questioned the clerk a second time.

The house, a duplex structure with the other half occupied, was damaged $100, according to a claim filed by the owner. Crooms told Baumer he had hoped to collect $4000 insurance on his furniture and buy a house with the money. A warrant was issued, charging him with arson.

Colorado Man, 70, Dead When Three Are Found Hurt.

By the Associated Press.

GREELEY, Colo., June 21.—Jacob Schear, 70 years old, was found hanging to a rafter in his garage today after he is thought to have tried to kill his two children and a grandchild with an ax.

The children, wounded and unable to talk, were taken to a hospital. August Schear, 11, and his sister, Sarah, 16, were found in a bed. The grandchild, Freda, 12, had crawled to the front of the house.

New York's Heat Wave Broken.
NEW YORK, June 21.—The heat wave which had kept the East sweltering for more than a week was broken today. The temperature held within the seventies in New York City during the day, and other parts of the East reported correspondingly cool weather. The temperature had remained in the 60's during the night, giving New Yorkers their first comfortable night in several days.

SPANISH AVIATORS TAKE OFF FOR AZORES ON WAY TO U. S. PLAN 10-DAY ROUND TRIP

Maj. Ramon Franco, With Three Companions, Starts From Cartagena at 9:50 A. M. St. Louis Time—Will Stop at Halifax.

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, June 21.—A radio message from Maj. Ramon Franco, received at Cadiz at 8:35 p. m. (1:35 p. m. St. Louis time) said that his flight to the Azores was proceeding perfectly. Almost constant radio communication was maintained with the plane by Spanish land stations. Previously he said he expected to arrive at the Azores by 6 p. m. (St. Louis time).

CARTAGENA, Spain, June 21.—Maj. Ramon Franco, Spanish aviator, who flew across the South Atlantic in 1926, took off here today at 4:50 p. m. (9:50 a. m. St. Louis time), for the Azores Islands on the first leg of a flight to New York. He was accompanied by three companions.

Francisco took off in his seaplane Numancia, which has an average speed of 100 miles an hour, the plane has 11 gasoline tanks holding 410 liters (about 900 gallons). Franco took off from Alcazares airfield, near Cartagena. The Spaniards are scheduled to make their first stop at the Azores which they should reach by 8:30 a. m. Saturday, Madrid time (1:30 a. m. St. Louis time).

Francisco will spend the day at the Azores. He plans to take off for New York at 6 p. m. Saturday (11 a. m. St. Louis time). The flight will be direct to New York if weather conditions are favorable. If not, a stop will probably be made at Halifax, N. S.

The Alcazares air field was packed with the crowd that had come to witness the take-off. The greatest secrecy was maintained throughout. Maj. Franco said he hoped to fly directly to New York from the Azores and then fly back to Northern Spain, making the entire journey in eight days.

The plane used by the flyers was a Dornier-Wahl monoplane carrying two Hispano-Fuiza motors of 600 horsepower each. The flyers carried a radio having a range of about 200 miles and enough gasoline for a 22-hour flight. Maj. Franco planned to communicate by radio with ships along his course.

The itinerary, as given out here, calls for the following stopping places: The Azores, Halifax, New York, Newfoundland and back again to Northern Spain, the entire trip taking about 10 days.

Major Franco and three companions flew from Palos, Spain, to Buenos Aires, Argentina, in 1926, using a special motorized seaplane, Ne Plus Ultra. On this trip he flew down the coast of Africa and then made the crossing from the Cape Verde Islands to the island of Fernando Do Noronha, a distance of 1400 miles in about 15 hours.

DOCTOR ARRESTED FOR FAILURE TO PAY $100 FINE IN 1926
Old Case Against Dr. C. Carter Lee Taken Up in Investigation of Forfeited Bonds.

Circuit Attorney Miller's investigation of forfeited bonds resulted yesterday in the arrest of Dr. C. Carter Lee, 1029 North Vandeventer avenue, who was fined $100 by Circuit Judge Itner in November, 1924, after an employee of the Lucille Gas Co. found that pipes in his home had been altered so that gas did not pass through the meter.

The fine was upheld by the Supreme Court on Dec. 22, 1925, and the physician's $500 bonds, signed by his attorney, was forfeited on May 21, 1926, when the fine was not paid.

Dr. Lee after his arrest yesterday said he had given his attorney $2500 to finance the appeal and pay other obligations and uncertainties.

A verdict for the St. Louis County Gas Co. defendants in a $5000 damage suit brought by half of Bernice Krull, daughter of Bernard J. Krull, 3202 Madison avenue, St. Louis, was returned yesterday by the jury in Circuit Judge Heston's court at Clayton.

It was alleged that the defendants had caused the death of a bull owned by the plaintiff by releasing a gas leak from a broken pipe Feb. 27, 1928. The damage suits for $1000 each, filed for a 2-year-old bull, Cuthbert, also overcame, both parents for mental anguish are pending.

Col. Roop Director of Budget
WASHINGTON, June 21.—Identified Hoover last today as the appointee to the position of the Frisco Building, Ninth and Olive streets; International Life Building, Eighth and Chestnut streets; and of the Brown Shoe Building, Seventeenth and Washington avenues; 250 shares of St. Louis Union Trust Co., 64 shares of Mercantile Trust Co., 47 shares of Mississippi Valley Trust Co., 40 shares of Lincoln Realty and 156 shares of Edmund Realty Co. stock.

Trust Created Under Will.
The trust estate was created under the will of the late John E. Liggitt, a grandson, John E. Liggitt, and his three daughters, Mrs. Liggitt, Mrs. Cora B. Fowler and Mrs. Dolle L. Kilpatrick, the mother of Mrs. Perry.

The grandson received his share in 1915 when he reached the age of 30, and partial distributions to the various heirs totaled about $200,000. The trust, in its present form, continued for the benefit of the three sisters, to revert to the surviving sisters in the event of the death of one without issue.

Mrs. Fowler, the widow of John Fowler, who was president of the St. Louis Symphony Society at his death in 1924, died July 19 last, leaving the bulk of her estate, $1,000,000, to St. Louis Hospital. Mrs. Kilpatrick died Aug. 1, 1924, leaving her property, worth more than $1,000,000, to Mrs. Perry.

What Aunt Claims.
Mrs. Kilpatrick's one-third interest in the trust estate passed under the terms of the Liggitt will to Mrs. Perry and a grandchild, Mrs. Elizabeth Scudder, only daughter of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Liggitt Scudder, a daughter of Mrs. Kilpatrick.

Mrs. Fowler's one-third interest claimed by Mrs. Wiggins, as her surviving sister, according to a suit filed by Mrs. Perry, who claims an interest as one of the direct heirs of Mrs. Kilpatrick. L. Bakewell Jr., appeared as counsel for Mrs. Perry.

MICE RELEASED IN FIGHT AT ANTI-VIVISECTION MEETING

Medical Students Throw Buckets of Water, Women Behave Themselves With Unbecomely

LONDON, June 21.—An anti-vivisection meeting at the Westminster, was broken up last night by 200 medical students throwing buckets of water and releasing live mice in the hall.

Several scuffles occurred, and members of the audience of women were seen belaboring students with umbrellas. The police were called to eject the disturbers, many of whom suffered minor injuries.

Adolph Stahl of Miami, Fla., pressed sympathy with the anti-vivisectionists, Dr. Stahl was one of the speakers.

LOSES SUIT OVER GAS LEASE
A verdict for the St. Louis County Gas Co. defendant in a $5000 damage suit brought in by half of Bernice Krull, 4-year-old daughter of Bernard J. Krull, 5202 Madison avenue, Vinita, Okla., was returned last yesterday by jury in Circuit Judge Noyes' court at Clayton.

It was alleged that the child suffered permanent injuries as a result of being overcome by gas from a broken pipe Feb. 12, 1924. The damage suits for $5000 each, filed for a 2-year-old brother, Cuthbert, also overcome by gas, and three children, both parents for mental anguish are pending.

FILED FOR WILL IN LIGGETT $6,000,000 TRUST

Mary L. K. Perry of New York Brings Action Against Aunt, Mrs. Ella
Wiggins.

CLAIMS TWELFTH OF REAL ESTATE

Property Left by Will of Tobacco Manufacturer Includes Sites of Several Downtown Buildings.

Another suit to construe the will of John E. Liggett, St. Louis tobacco manufacturer, which has been the subject of nearly a year of litigation since his death in 1917, was filed in Federal court here yesterday by Mrs. Mary L. K. Perry, daughter of Liggett, against her aunt, Mrs. Ella Wiggins, 47 Portland place, who is surviving daughter of Liggett.

Mrs. Perry seeks to establish her interest in a trust consisting of one-twelfth of the real estate and one-fourth of the personal property. Among the larger pieces of real estate are the sites of the Frisco Building, Ninth and Chestnut streets, International Life Building, Eighth and Chestnut streets, and the Brown Shoe Building, Seventh and Washington avenues.

Three days after this exchange of telegrams, the New York Evening World wired the Bishop that it was in possession of two affidavits, one signed by the head of the defunct Kable firm, which alleged that in 1927 and 1928 Bishop Cannon had an account with that firm and speculated in stocks, and that during his trips he furnished the firm with his financials, so that stock quotations could be forwarded to him regularly.

What Aunt Claims.
Mrs. Wiggins' one-third interest in the trust estate passed on under the terms of the Liggett will to Mrs. Perry and a grandchild, Mrs. Elizabeth Scudder, only daughter of the late Elizabeth Liggett Scudder, a sister of Mrs. Kippatrick.

REWEDES DIVORCED WIFE; KILLS SELF ON FOLLOWING DAY

Granite City Pair Quarreled
Over Letters Written
After They Had Separated.

W. A. Johnese, 29-year-old salesman, who was divorced from his fourth wife June 12, and remarried his third wife last Wednesday, shot and killed himself last night after a quarrel with the wife of one day. The suicide occurred in the Granite City automobile agency where Johnese was employed and which is just across the street from his home, 2028 Madison avenue in Alton.

Mrs. Johnese, the former Miss Lucille Dugan—in addition to her two matrimonial adventures with Johnese, had been married once to another man who died—told Granite City police she and her husband had planned an outing last night after he finished work.

They started quarreling, she said, over whether they ought to destroy several letters Johnese had written her after they had been divorced. She wanted to burn them, she said, but her husband wanted them saved.

They quarreled then about Johnese's financial condition, she continued, and he became morose over the fact that he was deeply in debt. He took a .25 automatic pistol from a desk and Mrs. Johnese told him that she had thrown the cartridges away because of prior threats he had made to kill himself.

Johnese had canceled the plans for the outing and had put his automobile in the garage across the street. Followed by his wife, he returned to the agency building, found a box of cartridges in his desk and loaded the weapons. Then he stepped into a wash room and shot himself in the right temple. He died almost instantly.

Surviving are two children by his second wife, who live with their mother in Alton.

IRON WORKERS TO VOTE ON WAGE COMPROMISE

Strikers Offered $1 a Day Increase—Will Consider Proposal Tonight.

The 700 union iron workers, who have been on strike since May 1, will vote tonight on accepting a wage increase of $1 a day for a year with an additional increase of $12 a day under an agreement, which expired May 1, and demanded an increase of $2 a day. The demand was refused by employers, who had announced that no craft would be granted an increase.

Conferences between representatives of the union and contractors resulted in the compromise, which will be presented to a vote of the union at Carpenters' Hall, Grand boulevard and Cozens avenue, tonight. If accepted, the agreement will become effective immediately and the men will return to work Monday.

The strike of the iron workers, building laborers and stone cutters interrupted building operations here. The stone cutters, who also demanded a $2 a day increase, returned to work after two weeks at their old scale, $10 a day. The laborers remained idle five weeks and then settled with employers on a flat scale basis.

On July 15 the working contract of union electrical workers expires and they have presented a demand for an increase of $2 a day, to $14.

MONTY BANKS BANKRUPT

Actor Lists Liabilities as $80,000, Assets as $150 and Royalties.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 21.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday in Federal court on behalf of Mario Bianchi, motion picture actor known to the screen world as Monty Banks. The petition lists liabilities of $80,000, assets of $150 and part interests in five photographs.

The Motion Picture Capital Corporation of New York headed the list of unsecured creditors, with a claim for $71,902. The Government of England claimed $14,000 for 1923 income taxes and Joseph McCann of Los Angeles $500 for legal services.

"I feel very deeply about this," Bishop Denny said. "I do not think it is within the sphere of the church to do such things. I fear it means the ultimate division of the Methodist Church, for many will refuse to be dragged, as a church, into politics."

Convention Censures Bishop Cannon for Political Activity.
NORFOLK, Va., June 21.—A resolution attacking what was termed the political activity of Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was adopted here yesterday by the National Board of Directors of the Knights of American Protestantism.

"We deeply resent," the resolution says, "the action of Bishop James Cannon Jr., in using his office as a bishop of the Methodist Church for the defeat of any candidate for office, whether quaker or not, purely on religious grounds." It further expresses resentment toward Bishop Cannon "for the injection of his own church into politics, although we appreciate the loyalty, sincerity, and good work he is trying to do, but we do object to his attempting to control the destinies of the Federal Government."

The sense of the resolution was adopted by the convention but was referred to the board for revision and the use of its judgment in making the matter public, board members said.

MRS. GANN HONORED AT WET DINNER AT BRITISH EMBASSY

Her Husband "Very Happy" in "Quite a Good Place," Says Attache.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 21.—The first dinner at the British embassy for the Vice President's sister, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, since the discussion of her social precedence last winter, apparently has been concluded without confusion.

She dined as the guest of honor of the Ambassador, Sir Esmé Howard, last evening. She was seated on his right, and was accompanied by Vice President Curtis and her husband.

"The dinner, it was said, was wet and it was said today by an attache at the Embassy that Sir Esmé is "not dry, nor has he ever said he was."

"The Ambassador declared merely," it was said, "that he would cease to import liquor."

Where Mrs. Gann was seated was not disclosed, but an Embassy social secretary said he had "quite a good place, and was very happy."

The dinner was attended by diplomats, Senators and Representatives.

New Book on Heraldry Traces Ancestry of Several Other Presidents.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 21.—Calvin Coolidge, former President, can trace his ancestry back to Charlemagne, according to "Your Family Tree," by Sarah Louise Kimball and David Starr Jordan, which is issued today by D. Appleton and Co. Coolidge's descent from Charlemagne is of direct line.

The book also gives the lineages of several other former Presidents, disclosing that practically every family of English descent can trace its ancestry back to such names as Alfred the Great, William the Conqueror, Charlemagne and Robert Bruce, Jonathan Edwards, George Washington and John D. Rockefeller are indirect descendants of Henry I, King of France.

Two Arrested.
Elmer Taylor, a Negro, of 3719 Rutger street, was killed today when thrown from a truck which collided with another at Kingshighway and Farlin avenue. His skull was fractured.

Walter Richardson, also a Negro, 4026 North Market street, driver of the truck on which Taylor was riding, and Bonvol Bryan, 3726 Lincoln avenue, driver of the other car, were arrested on bond.

APPEALS, SENTENCE INCREASED

Drunken Driver Must Serve Six Months Instead of One.

An appeal from a 30-day workhouse sentence and a $100 fine for driving while intoxicated proved costly for James McCaffrey of Edgemont Station, Ill., today when Judge Butler in the Court of Criminal Correction increased the punishment to six months in the workhouse.

McCaffrey was arrested on the night of Feb. 22 following a collision at Seventh boulevard and Ann avenue. He received the 30-day sentence in Police Court May 25 after policemen testified that, in their opinion, he was intoxicated at the time of the accident. McCaffrey, on the witness stand, declared he was a passenger in the machine, and produced a witness, who testified that he was driving the car for McCaffrey. McCaffrey, having taken one appeal, has no alternative but to start serving the sentence. In similar cases the court has paroled defendants after a portion of the sentence was served.

$50,000 IN MAILED MISSING

Two Pouches Disappear in Transit to Boston.

By the Associated Press.
ANSONIA, Conn., June 21.—Postal inspectors today were trying to find two mail pouches which disappeared yesterday while in transit. One pouch was said to have contained upwards of $50,000 in currency consigned to the Ansonia National Bank from the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.

NEGRO TAKES HIS DOG TO CHURCH, FINED $15

"Baby" With Bells on Harness Performs Tricks During the Sermon.

William J. Shelton, diminutive Negro, felt the urge to "get religion" last Sunday evening and strolled into church with his dog. As an outcome he was fined $15 by Police Judge Beck yesterday for disturbing the peace and tranquility of the congregation of the Saint Angel Negro Baptist Church, 1407 Whittier street.

Shelton tried hard to defend himself in court, and things looked pretty bright for him when he concluded his testimony. But when the Rev. Edward D. Coleman, leader of the Saint Angel flock, told his story, Shelton was doomed.

"Judge, your honor," Shelton began, "I was out walking with 'Baby'—that's my dog, the cutest little Spitz you ever saw—and as I passed the Saint Angel Church, I thought to myself, 'What I need is religion.' The next thing I know I'm walking up the steps with 'Baby' in my arms."

"When I got inside I see the Rev. Mr. Coleman in the pulpit, speaking hard. The place is crowded. I put the dog on the floor and I have him trained to sit on his hind legs, so he sits there that way. The first thing you know, everybody is turning around in their pews to watch 'Baby' while the Rev. Mr. Coleman goes on preaching."

"Finally the Reverend finished his sermon and he called for new members who wished to join. Then he motioned at me and said, 'Come forward, Brother.' I took 'Baby' under my arm and went forward."

"I told him I wasn't sure but I would like to talk it over with him when I had more time. So I gave him my card and told him to drop over to my home at 1103 Pendleton and we could talk it over."

SALESMAN IN HOSPITAL AFTER FIGHT WITH WAITRESS

Theodore Daniels Says She Hit Him With a Brick; She Denies It.

Miss Ethel Benson, 33-year-old waitress, and Theodore Daniels, 42-year-old salesman, formerly were the best of friends, but last night they had a fight in the restaurant at 2623 North Broadway where she works and he eats. He was taken to city hospital with a probable skull fracture and she was locked up.

"I bawled her out for not treating me right and she hit me with a brick," Daniels told police. "That's not true," said Miss Benson. "He called me a vile name and grabbed me and we fell through the front door glass."

GETS SIX-MONTH TERM FOR ROBBING NEWSPAPER BOXES

Richard Dischinger Seen by Newsdealer and Patrolman, as He Took 47 Cents.

Richard Dischinger, 344 Nebraska avenue, was sentenced to six months in the workhouse today for stealing 37 pennies and two nickels from newspaper boxes near his home.

Charles Peterson, a newsdealer, of 3424 Magnolia avenue and Patrolman O'Rourke testified in Judge Butler's court that they had seen him take coins from three newspaper boxes before he was arrested at Grand boulevard and Gravois avenue.

MAYOR ATTACKED OVER PAVING JOB AT MT. VERNON, ILL.

Citizens in Suit Allege Work Cost $5000 Too Much and Specifications Were Not Followed.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
MOUNT VERNON, Ill., June 21.—Charges that the contract for paving East Main street here was let illegally by city officials, and that the work, which cost the city about $5000 more than contemplated, was not done in accordance with specifications but with material changes that benefited the contractor, are included in a bill of objections filed in County Court by 31 residents of Mount Vernon who are resisting collection of a special assessment to pay the cost of the improvement.

The objectors, represented jointly by Attorney Neal Thompson of Mount Vernon, request the court to order the completion of the paving project by the contractor, and to recall all vouchers or bonds that have been issued to him in payment for the work, until the pavement is completed according to original specifications.

With the action of the objectors, public interest here has again become centered in various official transactions which were the subject of considerable campaign talk prior to the recent mayoralty election, when Mayor H. M. Swift was re-elected to office in a close contest with Dr. John J. Corlew. Let Contract Before Asking Bids.

The paving of East Main street prior to the election, was made an issue by Dr. Corlew, who charged and offered documentary evidence, that the contract to pave the street for a distance of nine blocks from the courthouse to the town's corporate limits was let to contractors at least 10 days prior to the date of advertising for bids, and the subsequent public announcement that the successful bid was accepted.

The contractor's materials and implements were assembled along the street before the bids were advertised, according to Dr. Corlew. Bids on the East Main street improvement were first advertised Oct. 1, last, and all received at that time were rejected without explanation by the Board of Local Improvements, comprised then of Mayor Swift, City Engineer C. E. Bledsoe, who is not now in office, and Stanley Watson, special improvement attorney, who has moved from Mount Vernon. The Board of Local Improvements has complete responsibility in the awarding of contracts.

Although a contract with the Midwest Engineering Co., dated Oct. 5, to improve East Main street, is in the City Hall files, bids for the work were advertised Oct. 15 and again on Oct. 25. The Midwest company was declared the successful bidder, Oct. 27, more than three weeks after the contract was signed by Mayor Swift. City Engineer Bledsoe and V. C. McLain, president of the Midwest Engineering Co.

The original estimate on which the contract was let, provided for the laying of 11,163 square yards of asphaltic concrete surface, to be put down in a prescribed manner at a cost of $23,969.28. The contractor's final bill amounted to $28,956.41.

The objectors, whose homes flank East Main street, set forth in their petition that the contract was irregularly let as no resolution was offered at a public hearing by the Board of Local Improvements for the East Main street paving as provided by law, and point out other alleged irregularities in the procedure of the board.

The petition alleges that the certificate of completion and acceptance shows on its face that much additional work was done, not provided for by the original ordinance, at a cost to the city of $5186.96 more than the contract price. The certificate of completion and acceptance is vague and indefinite, the objectors allege, and does not itemize the total cost as provided by law.

TRIES TO AVOID HOLDUP AND UPSETS TRUCK

Driver for Bakery Hurt in Effort to Escape From Armed Motorist.

Albert Laplant, a chauffeur for the Heydt Bakery, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when a man drove alongside his truck on Highway 21, near Potosi, Mo., flourished a revolver, and then caused a collision in which La-plant's machine was upset.

The man, who Laplant suspects was a robber, fled after the collision, leaving Laplant pinned beneath the truck for 20 minutes until help arrived. Laplant was brought to a St. Louis hospital for treatment for fractured ribs and internal injuries and then was taken to his home, 4411 Lafayette avenue.

Last Saturday two men stopped Laplant's truck in St. Louis County and robbed him of $192. When a Durant automobile drew alongside his truck yesterday and its occupant pointed a revolver at him, Laplant determined to avoid another holdup, if possible, increased speed and attempted to escape.

The other driver also increased speed and cut in front of the truck in an effort to force Laplant to halt. In doing so the rear bumper of the automobile came in contact with a wheel of the truck, causing Laplant to lose control. The truck left the road, ran up an embankment and upset.

Upon seeing the result of his maneuver, the stranger continued on his way, leaving Laplant beneath the truck. The victim was released by a passing motorist. La-plant, who is 27 years old, makes rural deliveries for the bakery company.

WIFE OF LINCOLN STEFFENS WINS DIVORCE IN CALIFORNIA

She Recently Wrote Article on "How It Feels to Be Married to an Old Man."

SALINAS, Cal., June 21.—Mrs.
Lincoln Steffens, who wrote, a few months ago, a magazine article on "How It Feels to Be Married to an Old Man," won a divorce in Superior Court here yesterday.

Mrs. Steffens, who is in her early thirties, charged Joseph Lincoln Steffens, 63 years old, writer and lecturer, of Carmel, Cal., with being "harsh and abusive" and said he refused to speak to her, objected to her attending parties or dances and was jealous. The testimony was heard behind closed doors.

Steffens, born in San Francisco, recently wrote a magazine article on "How It Feels to Be a Father at 60."

Mrs. Steffens' pen name is Ella
Winters. They were married in Paris in 1924 and separated April 3, last. They have a son, Peter Stanley Steffens, 4.

Theosophist Leader Recovering.

FOR STRICTER PARKING
LAW ENFORCEMENT

Speakers Suggest This as Alternative to Absolute Bar in Business District.

Drastic enforcement of the present city ordinance which prohibits parking in congested areas during morning and evening rush hours and limits parking at other times to one hour was suggested as an alternative to absolute prohibition of parking at a meeting of the Traffic Committee of the St. Louis Safety Council held yesterday at Hotel Statler.

Chief of Police Gerk, who attended the meeting, said it would be impossible to do this without increasing the police force. To meet this situation a committee was appointed to consider the possibility of enacting legislation which would hold an illegally parked car to be a nuisance which might be towed away without notifying the owner.

The committee also will consider the practicability of downtown merchants contributing to the expense of increasing the Police Department so that it effectively can enforce the present ordinance. A suggestion that an accurate survey of how parking affects business and traffic conditions in the downtown district be made also was referred to the committee.

No one at the meeting expressed positive views as to how the recent three-month trial of no parking downtown had affected business, although it was agreed that 99 per cent of the downtown merchants were opposed to it.

Frederick Z. Salomon, manager of the Famous-Barr Co. store, said that in his opinion it had not increased the flow of shoppers into the district, but had expedited traffic and made it more attractive to through traffic with consequent increase in hazards for pedestrian shoppers.

No parking regulations appear to affect the small store which depends on casual customers more than the large stores, Salomon said, mentioning that the business of his store had increased during the trial period.

POLITICAL INTERFERENCE IN RESERVE SYSTEM ATTACKED

Illinois Banker Says Attempt Has Been Made to Cripple Organization.

AURORA, Ill., June 21.—Omar H. Wright, president of the Illinois Bankers' Association yesterday attacked what he termed political interference that threatened "to cripple the Federal Reserve System" at the annual meeting of the organization.

"An attempted program of checking abnormal speculation of all kinds and descriptions in the stock market has brought down upon the heads of the system virulent criticism from many quarters while the words of approval have been faint and infrequent," he said. "Unfortunately as well, the situation has given the political opportunist the chance to gather to himself an audience. "Certainly there is a limit to our credit somewhere. Surely some check should always be used to put a stop to any extreme or unreasonable use of credit in any one direction and no other organization is in position to undertake such a control if it is not our Federal Reserve Banks."

GERMANY CELEBRATES JUTLAND ANNIVERSARY

Hindenburg as if in Answer to Naval Group Appears in Civilian Garb.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 21.—The thirtieth anniversary of the Battle of Jutland, known here as the "Victory of Skagerrak," was marked by meetings of naval enthusiasts who hope for a rebuilding of German sea power, but President von Hindenburg himself reviewed his special navy guard in civilian garb, as if to emphasize the passing of the old military order.

The marked contrast between the two was symbolic of the wide divergence that exists between political trends in Germany today, toward aggressive nationalism on one hand and socialistic democracy on the other.

"The anniversary of Skagerrak," declared C. Hachmann, chairman, at a crowded anniversary meeting of the Navy Association in Berlin, "warns our people not to forget that we must strive for new sea strength. Admiral Scheer (commander of the German fleet at Jutland) showed us what a role the strong will of a leader can play in the German nation. If only for the sake of our fallen comrades, it is our duty to rebuild the fatherland in new glory."

Martial music from marine bands that recalled the glamor of pre-war days greeted this declaration, as well as a triple cheer and the singing of "Deutschland über Alles" by the packed audience, among whom were Admiral Raeder, the new chief of the German Navy; Vice Admirals Heinrich, Kahle and Lorenz, Cola, Marx and Von Futtikamer, representing army headquarters, and numerous officers and former officers of both services.

An echo of this enthusiasm marked the sidewalk crowds who watched President von Hindenburg's honor guard of Kiel marines as they marched under the triumphal arch of the Brandenburger Thor to the palace. Von Hindenburg stepped out into the slate gray enclosure of the palace courtyard, hatless and without medals or decorations on his dark civilian suit.

FLYING DRY AGENT RESIGNS; NO PLANE MADE AVAILABLE

Capt. Russell Young Was to Find Stills from the Air It Was Reported.

Moonshiners in the local enforcement district apparently need have no further apprehension that prohibition agents will swoop down upon them from the air, at least for some time. An aerial campaign again still operators in rural districts was rumored recently with the employment of Capt. Russell Young, a National Guard aviator, as a member of the St. Louis district enforcement squad. The Government would supply prohibition agents with planes for "spotting" stills. It was said, and Young was to fly the ship assigned to this district, according to the report. The plane failed to materialize, however, and this week Young became weary of waiting for a plane and resigned from Deputy Administrator Dillon's force to become test pilot at Lambert-St. Louis Field.

RELATIVES OF BOY WHO DIED IN AUSTRALIA

Crossley Rush, 18 years old, who died March 25 at Sidney, Australia, hospital, is being made by Chief of Police Gerk at the request of E. M. Lawton, American consul-general there. The body is held for relatives.

Records of the State Board of Health show he was born Sept. 7, 1910 in Lewis County, Mo., the son of Charles C. S. and Agnes Walker Rush. The physician reporting the birth was Dr. G. L. McCutchan of Canton.

DR. M. ASHBY JONES TO TOUR EUROPE WITH PARTY OF 20

Pastor of Second Baptist Church One of Group Which Will Study Conditions There.

Dr. M. Ashby Jones, pastor of Second Baptist Church, will sail for Europe Wednesday on the "America" with a party of 20 writers and educators, which will make study of conditions in several European countries. Included in the party are Dean Scarlett of Christ Church Cathedral, who will join the group in London; President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin; John Bakeless, editor of The Living Age; President F. M. Hunter of the University of Denver; President William J. Hutchins of Berea College, Kentucky; Kirby Page, editor of The World Tomorrow; President Ellen Pendleton of Wellesley College, and the Rev. Dr. Burris Jenkins of Kansas City. The party will be led by Sherwood Eddy, former Asiatic Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The purpose of the pilgrimage is to gain an intelligent and sympathetic interpretation of European conditions. The party will go to London, Paris, Geneva and Berlin, where conferences have been arranged with statesmen, scientists, authors, ministers and business leaders. From Berlin the visitors will go into Russia, carrying their own interpreter.

Dr. Jones will return the first of September. During his absence, the congregation of the Second Baptist Church will hold union services with St. John's Methodist Church.

Seven Hurt in School Explosion.

ANSONIA, Conn., June 21.—Seven first-year students, two of them girls, were injured in an explosion in the chemistry laboratory of the Ansonia high school yesterday. Samuel di Giorgi, 16 years old, and Lawrence Fair, 15, were badly burned about the face. Three other boys and two girls were cut by flying glass. The explosion is attributed to the mixing of acids by one of the pupils.

ART PATRON DEFENDANT IN $200,000 ALIENATION SUIT
 Wife of Sculptor Says Millionaire Alienated Affections of Her Husband.
 LOS ANGELES, June 21.—Mrs. Mary Weiss has filed suit for $200,000 damages against Adele D. Lauth, millionaire music and art patron, charging Alienation of the affections of her husband, John Weiss, artist and sculptor.

Mrs. Weiss also filed a suit for divorce naming Mrs. Lauth, who is the daughter of a pioneer Los Angeles family, as co-respondent. Mrs. Weiss' complaint stated she married the sculptor in New York Feb. 2, 1907.

TWO WOMEN CONFESS $5800 HOTEL MELBOURNE SHORTAGE
 Employees Not Arrested; Effort to Find What They Did With Money.
 Two women employees have admitted responsibility for the shortage of $5800 in the accounts of Hotel Melbourne, discovered several weeks ago. Neither has been arrested but officers of the hotel are keeping in touch with them and endeavoring to discover what they did with the money.

12 ON TRIAL ACCUSED OF BANKRUPTCY PLOT
 Merchant, Under Sentence, Charged With Conspiracy to Hide $18,000 in Assets.
 Emil Moroni, bankrupt merchant of Johnston City, Ill., who was sentenced recently to four years in the Federal penitentiary for concealing assets and using the mails to defraud, is on trial in East St. Louis Federal Court with 11 others on a charge of conspiracy.

Most of his co-defendants, it is charged, assisted in the moving and hiding of goods which Moroni concealed during a bankruptcy proceeding and produced again when he opened a new store. George L. Horner, investigator for the National Credit Men's Association, testified 27 truckloads of unscheduled merchandise, worth $18,000, were recovered for the creditors.

Horner testified that Moroni purchased goods to the limit of his credit, hiding much of his merchandise in houses he owned in Johnston City, and then borrowed $900 which his wife used to purchase goods at his bankruptcy sale. Moroni's co-defendants are Louis Moroni, Oscar Beasley, Lewis del Conte, Charles Farris, John di Bernardi, Guido Folio, Margaret Williams, Morris Baum, Aud Jordan, Mary Gaz and Pete Gaz, all living in or near Johnston City.

PURE MILK COMMISSION DECIDES TO BORROW $1550
 This Amount Will Enable It to Supply 75 More Babies a Month.
 The need of funds to increase the service of the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission was outlined by Dr. Paul Zentay, secretary of the commission, at its meeting yesterday at Camp Goodwood Farm on Brown road. It was decided to borrow $1550, to be repaid from the Community Fund next year, in order to bring the present budget of the commission, $7492.96, up to $9042.96, the figure proposed before the 1928 Community Fund campaign failed to reach its objective and thus necessitated a cut in the milk fund budget.

At present the commission provides free or part-free milk for about 75 babies a month, a decrease of 25 per cent since last year. Due to lack of funds the commission has had to limit its free aid to babies under 1 year old and for a period no longer than three months. The $1550 to be borrowed will provide this service for 75 additional infants a month.

During the first five months of this year the Pure Milk Commission had prepared and delivered $9,783 bottles of milk, of which 74,605 were free or part free, but this is said to be insufficient for present needs. The commission's budget has received three successive reductions in the last three years. It is estimated that $11,000 will be needed to meet the situation adequately.

Engineers' Election.
 PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 21.—Officers and directors, elected at the convention of the Association of Iron and Steel Electrical Engineers here yesterday, included F. W. Cramer, Youngstown, O., president; P. O. Schur, Sparrows Point, Md., vice president; J. J. Booth, Gary, Ind., and E. F. Winter, Birmingham, Ala., directors.

STABS HIMSELF IN ABDOMEN
 Frank Cihla, 67 years old, 1809 Dolman street, is in serious condition at City Hospital suffering from a self-inflicted stab wound of the abdomen. Mrs. Emily Kilka, a neighbor, who called police, said he told her he was tired of living because of a partial paralysis he suffered last February.

PLANS FLIGHT ACROSS U. S. IN 15 HOURS FOR NEW RECORD

Aviator to Take Off at Los Angeles Sunday for New York.

NEW YORK, June 21.—J. D. Tew, president of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co., announced that Lee Schoenhair of Los Angeles would take off from that city early Sunday in an attempt to reach New York in 15 hours. He will fly alone. The non-stop record is 18 hours, 21 minutes and 59 seconds, set last Feb. 5 by Capt. Frank Hawks.

The plane which Schoenhair will use is a Lockheed-Vega, has a 425 horsepower Pratt and Whitney engine, is fitted with N. A. C. A. Ventura cowl, which is said to add about 20 miles an hour to the ship's normal speed, and is covered with a new rubber paint to reduce resistance.

Schoenhair's route will be via Albuquerque, N. M., Belleville, Ill., and Harrisburg, Pa., to Roosevelt Field, N. Y.

KIDNAPERS OF IDAHO STATE OFFICIAL GET LONG TERMS

Four Men Sentenced to From 10 to 25 Years for Abducting Lieutenant-Governor.

LEWISTON, Ida., June 21.—Three men who pleaded guilty of abducting Lieutenant-Governor W. B. Kline were sentenced yesterday to prison terms ranging from 10 to 25 years and a fourth member of the gang was sentenced to one to 25 years.

Those sentenced are: Albert Reynolds, 23 years old, Metalline

Falls, Wash., 12½ to 25 years; Frank Lane, 21, Red Mound, Wis., 11½ to 25 years; Egnes Snoysland, 21, Tolna, N. D., 10 to 25 years, and Robert Livingston, 18, of Alabama, one to 25.

George Norman, 37, of Seattle, was said by members of the band to have been their leader. Although not involved directly in the kidnapping, he was sentenced to one to two years as an accessory after the fact.

Fathers and Sons on Ozark Trip.

Fifty fathers and their sons are participating in the third annual field trip of the Indian Guides, the father-and-son organization sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., to continue through Sunday. A camp on the Big Piney is a base for nature study trips. Meramec Springs, the Rolla School of Mines, Jefferson City and the State Capitol will be visited. With the party will be a group of naturalists, including H. A. Buchler, State Geologist; Frederick Dunlap, State Forester; J. Tilden Andros of Jerome, and Buren Holmes of St. Louis.

LOSES IN TWO CASES

Lawyer Fails to Identify One Defendant, Jury Frees Another.

One case was dismissed by the State and a jury found another defendant not guilty yesterday when two liquor cases based on the purchases of Irving L. Spencer, volunteer dry investigator and attorney of 668 Atlanta avenue, Webster Groves, came to trial before Circuit Judge Mulloy at Clayton.

Spencer, who said he drank several glasses of beer and followed them with seven highballs in a saloon at Emmett avenue and Page boulevard, operated by Dennis Benson, hurried to the Prosecuting Attorney's office yesterday when Benson appeared for his trial.

"I am sure the man who sold me the liquor had a wide, livid scar on his face," he explained to the prosecutor. "I thought it was Benson. I can't identify this man."

Since Benson was charged with sale, the case was dismissed. When Theodore Rockas, who operates a pool room in Overland, came to trial, John Mooney, his attorney, asked Spencer how he qualified as an expert in identifying whiskey he said Rockas sold him. The witness explained that when he was a child his father kept a decanter of whiskey within easy reach and that he had been drinking with some regularity for the past 12 years.

The jury failed to accept Spencer's identification of Rockas as the man who sold him whiskey after defense witnesses testified that Rockas was ill in bed at his home at the time.

Beats Assault With Umbrella.

Mrs. Ella Bebetto, 27 years old, 907 Julia street, reported to police that a man attempted to attack her in Horn's Grove in the south end of St. Louis County yesterday afternoon after she had asked him to direct her to an address on Rippe avenue. She said he threw her down a bank of the River des Peres after she had beaten him with her umbrella.

WALKING PERILOUS
AT BYRD'S CAMP

Poor Visibility Caused by Sharp Changes in Weather—Precautions Issued.

By RUSSELL OWEN.
(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times
Co. and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)
This story is published exclusively in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. All news articles from members of the Byrd party will appear only in the Post-Dispatch in this city.

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica.
June 20.—(By Wireless)—The news of New York's heat wave arouses conflicting emotions down here on the Barrier. We would gladly swap a little snow for some sunlight, not 93 degrees of it, but even so we could see a few miles.

This is our mid-winter and correspondingly dark and with almost continual winds off of the east which whip up the snow so it is often impossible to see more than a few yards. But 93 above would be an unappealing calamity. We would all be swimming in a short time.

The weather has been as mysterious as the continent itself for the last month. Wide fluctuations of temperature take place and the other day there was a shift of more than 50 degrees in a few hours.
This unsettled weather has brought up in a few minutes out of a dead calm, and a good deal of snow. It may be so clear that the stars shine brilliantly and the moon reflected on the barrier surface gives a light by which it is easy to walk and avoid stumbling over drifts and in five minutes a wind will have come up and spread a thick drift of snow which clouds out the sky and hides the hummocks in an impenetrable blanket.

Long Walks Dangerous.
Howard Mason "just came in with some radios from the other house.
He was covered with snow. "I just felt into a drift up to my neck," he said. "You can't see the confounded things."

Walking any distance from the camp in weather like this is dangerous and walks are confined to pacing up and down in a familiar neighborhood where it is generally possible to find some landmark which will guide one home. Even when the sky is clear it pays to keep an eye on the horizon for advancing line of clouds blotting out the stars.

Commander Byrd's orders regarding walks give a good idea of the conditions:

"All hands are requested to realize that visibility may become zero in a very few moments. No one should find himself in a position, should this happen, such that he cannot easily make his way back to camp."

"Do not forget this vitally important matter: that cracks can open up in the darkness, both in the bay ice and on the barrier around Little America and then can be covered with thin bridge."
"The little bay to the westward of the camp is considered the safe-est place to walk. It is not necessary to go beyond it as any amount of walking can be done in the bay."

Must Tell of Departure.

"Again the request is made that every time a walk is taken that someone be informed of its exact position."

"If anyone becomes lost a light will be shown from one of the radio towers at intervals as soon as the visibility warrants it."

"Remember that should one get lost it would not be very pleasant for his shipmates."

"Every man is therefore expected to keep track of his bunkmate at meals and bedtime for with so many men here in various houses it would be possible otherwise for a man to be lost many hours before he would be missed. So far we have been fortunate."

"Everyone is hoping that this period of winds and obscurity will soon end. They are the result apparently of open water to the north of us or some warm current which stirs up the atmosphere here on the edge of the barrier. Whenever a strong upper wind drift from the south sets in the thermometer goes down and the air becomes calm and clear. Such intervals have been few and far between recently but when the lowest temperature comes in the next two months, we should have some pleasant weather even though it is bitterly cold."

TRUSTIN BROWN BOYD MARRIED IN CHICAGO

Merchant, 75, and Mrs. Ada Wartman of Evansville, Ind., Wed.

Trustin Brown Boyd, 75 years old, chairman of the board of directors of the Boyd-Richardson Men's Apparel Co., was married in Chicago last Saturday to Mrs. Ada Wartman, 59 years old, a widow, of Evansville, Ind. They will live in Los Angeles, Cal.

Ingram F. Boyd, son and president of the company, in announcing the marriage, said it was not secret and the ceremony was attended by members of the family.

Mrs. Emily T. Boyd, the first wife, died in Los Angeles in Feb. 1928. The pair had celebrated their golden wedding and the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Boyd's store three years ago.

After retiring from active business here, the elder Boyd moved to California, where he became known as a golf enthusiast at the Los Angeles Country Club.

2 MISSOURI MEN TO ASSIST IN FEDERAL TRAFFIC SURVEY

Reyburn Hoffman, St. Louis Engineer, and S. T. H. Cutler, Highway Commissioner, Are Named.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.—Reyburn Hoffman, traffic engineer of St. Louis, and S. T. H. Cutler of the Missouri State Highway Commission, were named yesterday by William K. Dawes of Chicago, chairman of the Commerce Department grade crossings and highway intersection committee, to serve on subcommittees to investigate causes and remedies of accidents at grade crossings.

Hoffman was named on the subcommittee to study signs, signals, markings and other protective devices and Cutler was named to the physical hazards subcommittee. The other subcommittees will compile statistics and investigate vehicle operation and regulations.

Between 8000 and 9000 people are killed every year at grade crossings and highway intersections throughout the United States, Dawes declared at the first meeting of the committee yesterday.

"Railway grade crossings accidents account for nearly 10 per cent of our 27,000 annual motor fatalities and the estimates are that nearly one-third all other accidents occur at highway intersections," he continued.

"There is little consolation in the fact that 50 per cent of the grade crossing accidents are due to motorists crashing into the sides of railway trains. This only indicates that our system of highway warning signals is not effective or that there is a great need for education of the public to reduce this enormous accident record.

"After canvassing the whole situation, our committee has decided to carry out during the coming months an investigation of the facts and the best measures to be recommended.

BOY CLIMBS BRIDGE, STICKS

Firemen Burn Iron Bar to Release Lad Suspended Over River.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 21.—After he had made an attempt to climb a girder on a dare, Fred Glendelle, 14 years old, of Minneapolis, became wedged between two bars on a bridge yesterday. Firemen burned one of the bars with an acetylene torch to release the lad. During the time he was being rescued the boy was suspended about 40 feet over the Mississippi River.

FORMER IRENE CASTLE GOES TO COURT TO RECOVER DOG

Tells Youth That Animals He Calls 'Mutts' Are More Human Than He Is

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, June 21.—Irene Castle McLaughlin, former dancer and now special policeman for the protection of dogs, appeared in an Evanston court yesterday to recover a dog that had been lost by Irving Hopkins, 17 years old. Mrs. McLaughlin has a home for dogs, which she calls "Orphans of the Storm."
"We gave this young man a dog for $5 and he agreed to give it back to us if he did not want it," she said. "Now he has sold it and we don't know where it is. Perhaps out hungry and homeless. And we think he owes us $10 for breach of contract."
Hopkins, explaining to the court, said: "This was a rough dog that I took out of this 'Orphans of the Storm' home that these ladies run. It was part alreale and part police dog and a tough mutt."

"Don't you call dogs mutts!" snapped Mrs. McLaughlin; "they are more human than you are."
The boy was given a week to find the dog.

STENCH BOMB IS HURLED IN WINDOW OF RESIDENCE

Attack.
Frank Newman, 3845 Maffitt Av., a Tailor, Is Unable to Explain.
A large homemade stench bomb was thrown through a front window at the residence of Frank Newman, 3845 Maffitt avenue, at 11:45 o'clock last night, damaging the furnishings. The "bomb" consisted of a gallon glass jug filled with a chemical that gave forth a noxious odor. A neighbor reported he saw the object thrown by a man who escaped in an automobile.
Newman said he knew of no reason for the attack. He added that he is a union tailor and has a son, who belongs to an actors' union.

LOSSES ON RACING STABLES CUT TAXES

U. S. Appeals Court Permits Widener Brothers to Make Deductions.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday decided that Joseph E. Widener and George D. Widener, widely known financiers and sportsmen, operated racing and breeding stables as "a business," and therefore might deduct from their income tax returns to the Government any losses thus sustained. A similar view had been taken by the United States Board of Tax Appeals.
The decision saves Joseph Widener from paying Federal taxes on $446,824.15, which were the losses he suffered on his stables from 1919 to 1922, and George Widener is relieved of paying assessments on $90,884 for the year 1919.
The Bureau of Internal Revenue took the position that the Wideners, because of their wealth, were not in the class of horsemen who maintained stables "for profit," but were interested solely because of love of the sport, and were not entitled to any deductions for losses. The Board of Tax Appeals, by a division of its members, ruled, however, that the evidence indicated that the Wideners were in the breeding and training of thoroughbred horses as a "business," and should be allowed credit for their losses in this manner.
The decision of the Court of Appeals sustaining the tax board, was written by Judge Joseph Buffington, senior member of the court, and concurred in by Judges Victor B. Woolley of Wilmington, Del., and W. H. S. Thomson of Pittsburgh.

BRITAIN TO RESUME RUSSIAN RELATIONS, LABOR PAPER SAYS

New Government Will Not Await Attitude of U. S., London Herald Declares.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 21.—The Daily Herald, Labor organ, says the new British Government will take steps to resume diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia as soon as possible without waiting to see what attitude the United States will take toward Russia.
The Government also is said to be as anxious to adhere as soon as possible to the optional clause pledging Britain to accept jurisdiction of the Hague Court in a large class of international disputes.

FORMER FOOTBALL STAR WOUNDED BY REALTY DEALER

A. E. Wakefield, on All-American Team of 1925, Declines to Discuss Affair in Birmingham.

By the Associated Press.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 21.—Chief of Police McDuff has disclosed that H. E. Wakefield, banker and 1925 all-American football selection, was shot twice at 2 o'clock Monday morning in front of the residence of Junius Walthall, brother of Henry B. Walthall, the actor, in Mountain Brook Estates, exclusive residential section here.

The official report of the shooting, made to Chief McDuff by two officers, said Wakefield was shot in the left thigh and right hand with a small pistol. Wakefield was "resting comfortably" at St. Vincent's Hospital today.

The officers reported that the shooting was done by Tom Crumpton, real estate dealer and son-in-law of Justice Virgil Bouldin of the Alabama Supreme Court.

Crumpton was arrested, the report said, although the nature of the charge was not given. At neither the county nor the city jails was there a record of the case. It was explained that the arresting officers could have released Crumpton on his own recognizance and that the case could be docketed when ready for trial.

Patrolman McGuire, one of the men who made the report, refused to discuss the affair, saying the principals had requested that it receive no publicity. Chief McDuff said his only information was contained in the report of the investigating officers.

Wakefield declared he was "all right" today and refused to discuss the case. Crumpton could not be found at his office.

The shooting was understood to have taken place following a gathering of friends at Walthall's residence. None would discuss details.

Officials at St. Vincent's said Wakefield was brought to the hospital by two men, who left immediately after the patient was removed to the operating room.

Wakefield is a member of a Memphis, Tenn., family. He was one of the sensations of the 1925 football season as an end at Vanderbilt University. He is manager of the Birmingham branch of Caldwell & Co., Nashville banking and bond house.

MOUNTS ANNOUNCED FOR THE JUNIOR HORSE SHOW

List of Animals and Their Riders Issued by Miss Margaret Holcamp, Chairman.

Announcement of mounts to be ridden in the first annual St. Louis Junior Horse Show at Missouri Stables Arena Sunday afternoon, was made today by Miss Margaret Holcamp, chairman of the Executive Committee.

The gaited classes include Miss Holcamp's two mounts, Limestone Pickering and Clay Willis, and Otis Brown's Bay King and Marguerite Peavine. In the three-gaited pair class, the team of Miss Winifred Duncan and Miss Betty Berkley, riding respectively Leopard Sweat and Castings, is regarded as a strong contender.

In the weaving contest will be shown Topsy, with Otis Brown, Jazz Baby and Black Bird, owned by Bradford Shinkle Jr., and Julius Van Raalte's polo pony, Peter. For the potato race, always an interesting event, a girls' team composed of Miss Mary Elizabeth Musick, Miss Betty Berkley, Miss Winifred Duncan and Miss Betty Freeman will oppose a boys' quartet consisting of Dan McCluney, Otis Brown, McLeod Stephens and Dan Fischel.

The jumping classes will exhibit four horses from Trail's End Stables; Magic Maid and Dark Night, both to be ridden by Bradford Shinkle Jr., and Step Aside and Jazz Baby, to be handled by Miss Jane Johnson, and in addition, Miss Ruth Gander will show Old Ironsides and Miss Martha Nicolaus will ride Pierrot.

3500 POUNDS OF BUTTER PUT INTO STORAGE FOR CONTEST

Star of Preservation to Be Determined at National Dairy Show in October.

Freshly churned butter—3500 pounds of it—is being stored at zero temperature today in the Federal Cold Storage Co. plant for the tenth annual storage butter contest sponsored by the National Dairy Association in connection with the National Dairy Exposition to be held here next October.

Three judges were busy today, marking the product of 175 producers of 21 states and Canada as to flavor, body, color, etc. Next October the butter will be withdrawn from storage and judged again. On a comparative basis prizes will be awarded and three special medals will be given to producers whose product is preserved.

The judges are L. S. Edwards, Nashville, Tenn., H. C. Larson, Madison, Wis., and H. D. Reynolds, Mason City, Ia.

Mellon Unlikely to Go Abroad.

KELLY SPRINGFIELD TIRES

Trade in your worn tires

THEY have a value to someone and we will make you a generous allowance for them on the purchase of a new set.
Here's the chance to re-equip with what are generally admitted to be the world's finest tires—on a real money-saving basis.

Tire prices are lower now than they have ever been. It is a pretty safe bet that tires are not going to be any cheaper this summer.

Why not equip now for many months of carefree driving, when by doing so you can, with your trade-in allowance, get the best there is for less than the cost of the second best.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MSGR. TANNRATH

Archbishop Celebrates Mass and 200 Priests Chant Office for Dead.

Funeral services for Msgr. J. J. Tannrath, chancellor of the archdiocese of St. Louis and pastor of the St. Louis Cathedral, who died Sunday, were held this morning at the cathedral, followed by interment in Calvary Cemetery. About 3000 persons attended the church services.

Two hundred priests chanted the office for the dead at 9 o'clock, after which Archbishop Glennon celebrated pontifical requiem mass. A sermon was delivered by Msgr. Soellinger of Jefferson City.

Physically he was stalwart," said Msgr. Soellinger in his sermon. "He was quick of mind, in action resolute, and born to command. Had he stayed in the world he would have been a great financier. His methods were strict and honest. He had indomitable perseverance, but was not conceited. He was humble and simple and loyal to his superiors. A moving spirit in affairs of the archdiocese, he loved St. Louis, had civic pride and took part in those things tending to elevate the moral standards of his native city. He was a lover of music and the arts and helped many in the struggle to success.

"Although gruff in manner, he was meek at heart. He was not a learned theologian, was too direct to be a great speaker, and was not noted for study, but he grappled with and solved difficulties which better minds hesitated to attack."

All seats in the Cathedral were occupied and a number of persons stood throughout the services. The entrances were draped in black and

GENEVA LABOR QUESTIONNAIRE TO GO TO 'WHITE COLLAR' MEN

GENEVA, June 21.—The International Labor Conference today adopted the form of a questionnaire to be sent to the various governments with a view to measures being taken for the regulation of the hours of work of salaried employees, that is "white-collar workers."
The conference further decided to proceed with a discussion of the draft convention for recommendation to the governments at next year's conference. Some members of the employers' group, led by the British employer delegates, opposed this, but the voting was heavily against them. If the convention is adopted next year, it is expected to prepare the way for legislation in different countries affecting millions of workers.

SEVEN SPRINGFIELD, MO., BANKERS GO ON TRIAL

Are Alleged to Have Misused Funds of Depository That Failed in 1928.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 21.—Trial of seven former officials of the defunct First National Bank of Springfield, indicted on charges of misappropriation approximately $55,000 of the bank's funds, began in Federal Court here yesterday.

The defendants are J. C. Peigh, former president of the bank; D. L. Davis, cashier; S. L. Eslinger, vice president; F. W. Stigman, Richard Liepmann, F. P. Lippman Jr. and Dr. Lou Tway Nolan, a woman, directors.

Taking of testimony began. Selection of a jury required most of the morning, many veniremen admitting they were prejudiced because they lost funds in the bank's collapse. The bank failed in March, 1928.

Outlining the Government's case, W. L. Vandaveater, United States District Attorney, declared the seven former bank officials used funds of the bank to meet a personal obligation of $95,000 owed to the Springfield Clearing House Association. Defense counsel contend the $95,000 loan was the bank's own obligation.

U. S. JUDGE UNDER INQUIRY

NEW YORK, June 21.—Federal Judge Grover M. Moscovitz, whose judicial acts in connection with the appointment of bankruptcy receivers has been under investigation by a congressional committee, yesterday announced he would resume his place on the bench Monday.

Moscovitz voluntarily left the bench two months ago when the investigation was ordered.

The committee completed its hearing here Wednesday. Judge Moscovitz appearing as one of the last witnesses. No report is expected from the committee before fall.

PAROLE REVOKED WHEN MAN FAILS TO REJOIN FAMILY

The parole of Joseph Frow, 1802 Allen avenue, sentenced in April to a year and a day in prison for bringing a young woman to St. Louis from Mexico City for immoral purposes, was revoked yesterday by Federal Judge Faris.

Frow is being sought in Texas. Frow was paroled on condition that he return to his wife and two children. Instead he attempted to flee to Mexico on the train on which the young woman was being deported. He was put off the train.

KEEHAN V. Pirates Defeat

Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Cubs this afternoon and took first in the National League race. The score was 14 to 3.

The high light of the game was a run by George Grantham, second baseman, in the eighth inning with three men on base.

Wilson, Cub center fielder, was sixteenth home run of the season, which was his sixth circuit in four days.

Grimes pitched for the Cubs, but was knocked out of the game by Claude Johnson, who replaced him.

ANNUAL SUNDAY SCHOOL ATHLETIC MEET ATTRACTS 111 ENTRIES

UNIVERSITY AND PREP STARS IN COMPETITION AT FRANCIS FIELD

Tyler Place Presbyterian Church, which won permanent possession of the William H. Reinhardt trophy by capturing the annual Sunday School track and field meet last year for the third time, is favored to again win tomorrow in the fifteenth annual meet, at Francis Field. Exactly 111 entries are entered, representing 13 churches.

Tyler Place tops the entry list with 30 entries. Kingshighway Presbyterian and Westminster Presbyterian, with 12 entries each, have entered the next highest number. Kingshighway's team, built around David Cook, former high school star, is favored to land as good as second.

The meet will be divided into four divisions. All entries over 18 years old will compete in the senior division; intermediates, 16 and 17; juniors, 14 and 15; and mid-gets, under 14. Trophies will be awarded the winning teams in each division. Gold, silver and bronze medals will go to individual winners.

Starting time is 1:30 p. m. Erwin Mahl will serve as starter. The senior division lists Mack Wilson and Carl Deber of Tyler Place, Everett Brodage of Bowman Methodist and William Ohle of West Presbyterian, all former Washington runners.

Norman Kincheloe of Maplewood Methodist and Howard Lawler of Bowman are athletes who established their records in high school.

Dave Cook Entered. Cook is entered against many of his former high school rivals, including Don McCarron and Clifford Lewis of Kingshighway Presbyterian, James Gamble and Larry McDougall of Tyler Place, Walter Lock of St. Mark's Lutheran, Vic Barnes of Maplewood and Tom Gilmore of Webster Groves.

King Tut Wins Bout. MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 21.—Sinking Pinky Kaufman, Hartford, Conn., lightweight, to the canvas for a nine count in the first session and taking virtually every other round, King Tut, Milwaukee, easily won a newspapermen's decision over the Easterner in their 10-round go at the ball park here last night.

JONES GETS 69 PRACTICE SCORE FOR U. S. OPEN

By the Associated Press.

MAMARONECK, N. Y., June 21. So far in the preparations for the national open golf championship, which will be held over the winged foot course here next week, Robert Tyne Jones, the young Atlanta lawyer who was almost talked out of the picture earlier in the season because he had so little time for practice, has gained a monopoly on the fine performances. He had a 69 yesterday. On Wednesday he did 39-21-70.

Yesterday his game was somewhat more consistent. There were no sixes on his card as there had been the day before and only two holes showed figures above par. On the tenth he took four strokes and the fifteenth a five. To make up for these two lapses he had three birdies and an eagle on the first nine and another birdie on the second. He reached the turn in 32, four strokes under par, and came back in 37, one above par figures.

The eagle was on the 514-yard fifth, a good par five hole. Bobby had made the hole in three on one previous occasion this week. The next hole, his six stroke nemesis of Wednesday, yielded a birdie three after he had hooked his drive into the woods. He lifted a great recovery over the trees to the green and sank a 25-foot putt.

Bobby's partners yesterday were Joe Kirkwood, Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell. Farrell had an approximate medal score of 75, Sarazen 76 and Kirkwood 77.

BEAVERS SIGNS TO COACH AT ARKANSAS

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., June 21.—Garland Beavers, former Razor-back football star, has been added to the coaching staff at the University of Arkansas and will help Glenn Rose, freshman coach-elect, with the yearling squad this fall.

Several high schools in Arkansas and Oklahoma have been trying to get the Arkansas star for the coming season, but Beavers will continue school at Arkansas and help Rose coach the frosh gridder.

Beavers is not eligible for football at the University, having already played the allotted three years. Last season he was chosen all southwest-conference fullback, and was awarded a trophy as the most valuable player in the conference.

POPLAR BLUFF GOLFERS TO MEET CHARLESTON

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., June 21.—Golf players of the Poplar Bluff Country Club, with a record of having won two matches and lost one in the round robin tournament that is being played by teams in this section of the State, will play a series of games in this city Sunday, against players of the Charleston Country Club.

HARRIS COGGESHALL AND GEORGETOWN STAR ENTER TENNIS FINAL

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 21.—The "dope" again proved correct in the Eastern intercollegiate tennis championships yesterday with the two favorites reaching the final round.

Gregory Mangin of Georgetown continued his triumphs in the upper half of the draw by taking a straight set semi-final match from Donald Strachan of Princeton by scores of 6-4, 6-4, 4-1. In the lower half, the brilliant Western invader, Harris Coggeshall of Grinnell, scored an even more sweeping triumph over Frank Howden of Columbia. The scores were 6-4, 6-4, 4-1.

6-3, 6-1. Both players had been considered as the probable finalists from the start of the event. Coggeshall and his partner, David Jones, put in a busy day, winning two doubles matches in addition to joining the field in the fourth round of the doubles. In the second round they defeated the Columbia team of Bowden and Rayner. They went on to an easy third round victory over Thomas Cahoon and Henry King of Fordham, 6-1.

THE NEW PROBAK BRINGS THE STRAIGHT EDGED PRINCIPLE TO THE SAFETY RAZOR

TWO straight, rigid, keen edges hug the guard when you clamp a Probak blade in your present double-edge razor. For the first time in history the straight-edge principle is brought to the double-edge safety. Butterfly channeling in secret-processed, duo-tempered steel produces a blade that flexes to a perfect edge and shaves like a barber's favorite.

No Pull, Drag or Vibration
You glide over the tender zones without knowing they're there—go around quickly, easily, smoothly. Once over is enough. Probak is built of tru-flex steel 17% heavier than the ordinary blade—steel that takes an edge and holds it! Automatic multiple honing and stropping assure uniformity. Every blade alike. Each must pass microscopic inspection. Probak is completely new—not an imitation. Look at the channeling. See how the straight-edge principle has been engineered. A Probak can't crack—it must flex to a perfect straight edge.

100,000 PURSE OFFERED FOR CHAMPION RACE

thoroughbreds of England, France and America at its racing plant here, Arlington Park, next summer.

John D. Hertz, whose Reigh Count finished second in the famous Ascot gold cup race in England yesterday, has carried the offer abroad and reported a favorable reception among English and French turf owners.

If the foreign turf owners consent to run their horses in the race, Hertz said he would probably keep Reigh Count in training for another year. Otherwise he expects to retire him to the stud.

The American National Jockey Club is composed of a group of wealthy Chicago business men and civic leaders, including Hertz.

Made Aid by Blewett.

ming to St. Louis in 1893. he made principal of schools in St. Louis. It has been the custom at the St. Louis schools ever since.

He was principal of Free School and Wyman Observance School for Harris Teachers' College. He was principal and superintendent in 1915 by Superintendent Blewett, and since as an assistant ever since.

Formerly had charge of elementary and high schools in the southern part of the city. Since the resignation of the instruction department by Superintendent Maddox three years ago, he has been in administrative charge of all schools in the city. He has in charge of supplies, teaching corps, officers, redistricting and transportation.

was married in 1896 to Miss Adelaide of Shelbyville, Mo. He has a son, John, who is a member of the Missouri University. They have a son, John, and a daughter, Mrs. Hickey, wife of the principal of Madison School. Assistant Superintendent George W. Withers, a member of the First Heights Baptist Church.

He was between the board and the superintendent. He became a familiar face to the public soon after Dr. W. Withers was elected to the office left by Superintendent W. Withers' death in 1917.

Dr. Withers' Withdrawal.

In the fall of 1920, it was made known to the five members of the Board of Education, who were appointed by the Board of Education, that Dr. W. Withers, Rector afterward he resigned that he would not seek reelection to his post in the spring of 1921. In a letter making this announcement, Dr. Withers said: "It is utterly impossible under conditions that now exist in the Board of Education, to render to me of my ability the kind of service which the public have a right to expect. I am, however well qualified to carry out such responsibilities successfully if I do not have the material aid and support of the Board of Education, and if he must resign the depressing and discouraging personal opposition of a large part of the board's members."

There was at New York City, where he will remain until the department of education.

Tariff and the Farmer.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In Monday's Post-Dispatch, beginning in the first column on the first page of Part Three, there is a news article of which at least the substance ought to be printed in pamphlet form in good-sized readable type and a copy furnished to every farmer and every member of farm families in the entire United States. And if some way could be devised to induce or compel each and every one to read the article three times a day for a period of 30 days it would prove a blessing to the farm population. Undoubtedly the article was carefully prepared by the Post-Dispatch Bureau in Washington, and the statements cannot be denied or controverted. The gist of the article is contained in the heading: "Farmer Out $1.00 for Every Dime He Will Profit by New Tariff Bill." and facts and figures are given to prove that statement; one of the most startling and impressive being that in regard to sugar, in which it is shown by the figures that under the new bill the proposed tariff on sugar will cost consumers $442,000,000, an increase over present tariff rates of $150,000,000.

It certainly is astonishing that farmers can be hoodwinked into a hope that an alleged "relief bill" whose only result will be the appointment of an army of commissioners, agents, investigators, etc., at big salaries, will bring any relief while the tariff robbers are given more and more unfair and dishonest profits. Maybe the farmers just love to be humbugged.

CHARLES E. REID.

For Straight Vaudeville.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

HURRAH! The Orpheum may reopen with straight vaudeville and with all hearts reserved! Ah, double blessing. No more need the long forgotten, down-trodden, foot-trodden vaudeville fan be forced to mingle with a motley mob of rabble. At last he (yes, he) can escape out of this phantom world of shadow pictures and stentorian voices into a world of flesh and blood where real people come out on a real stage and evoke that intimate lay sacrament known as true vaudeville.

This is great news. The shade of Woodrow Wilson, arch patron of vaudeville, must be cheered to hear that the big time is coming back, maybe. Rally, all ye faithful! Let us restore the temple where grown up people can go in civilized fashion to see grown up stuff.

WM. R. FISHER.

A Folk Grand Juror on Forest Park.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As one of the only two survivors of the 1902 Folk grand jury, I want to commend your splendid and successful efforts to keep Forest Park only for the purposes of the original intention. It was the duty of the then grand jury to investigate and report on an effort that had been made through doubtful means by a street car company to obtain a franchise to run through the park, and I recall vividly the great indignation of our citizens caused by such effort. In those days the open spaces in the vicinity of the park were so great that the Mounted Police station therein was deemed a necessity, but now that our population has grown and is growing so rapidly, and our visitors constantly increasing and as more and more space for their rest and enjoyment is required, it would be well to consider the removal of the police station to some location outside the park at no remote date. It is well to keep on the alert to the end that the pride of our great city, Forest Park, should be held inviolate from the despoilers for the pleasure and recreation of the generations yet to come. I feel confident that you have reflected in this matter the true sentiment of almost our entire citizenry, and that you have rendered the community a very great service.

LEWIS J. MEISER.

Three Cheers for Father.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ON June 9, 1931, John Howard Payne was born, author of the song "Home, Sweet Home," the world's most popular melody.

Is it not fitting that in June, also, the 16th, should come Father's day—the one day in the year we set aside in his honor to show him appreciation, gratitude and love? Do not home and flag and liberty mean much to him? Has he not fought for them all, since the beginning of time? American pioneering was no easy task. The modern struggle for existence, to provide for his family, to uphold our nation's standards, too, require brain and brawn, industry and self-sacrifice. In the family circle, often his labor, affection, unselfishness, is taken for granted. Children and grandchildren ignore him, flout his authority, belittle his achievements, expect everything and give nothing. Why not, on at least one day, show love and gratitude, before it is too late?

LOU MacCLURE CLARKE.

WHAT IT COMES TO.

In the terminable permits hearing Gov. Caulfield succeeded admirably in confining the discussion to the two fields in which it belonged:

1. Would such a law enable the city to do anything it cannot do now except to violate the charter provision against granting franchises for more than 50 years?

2. Is an extension of the street railway franchise at this time essential to development of a rapid transit plan, and would that plan be delayed if no such extension were immediately granted?

Proponents of the measure were not, as a rule, experts in the field. Nevertheless, the Governor confined the discussion except for very brief intervals to the fields indicated above. He exercised great tact and courtesy in the difficult matter of making the testimony of most of the proponents of the measure something more than mere expressions of loyalty to one another, altogether a fine judicial feat.

Many of the proponents, some of them representing great civic organizations, admitted no familiarity with the subject. They supported the bill because they trust its sponsors. Therefore, the important speakers were Mr. Clarke, president of the street railway company, and Mr. Kelker, transportation expert of the rapid transit body. It is, of course, well known that all the talk about increasing the powers of the city or speeding rapid transit by means of the terminable permits is the veriest nonsense. It is such nonsense that the Governor firmly but promptly advanced it to a position where it could be identified as such.

Mr. Clarke told why the company wants the permit, and he does not see why his company should be denied one. He said that six or eight millions could be spent immediately for the benefit of the car riders, and he explained that with its present franchise and $34,000,000 in bonds due in five years, the company cannot borrow a cent. That was Mr. Clarke's case. He did not say anything about the holding company controlling his company and which, according to representations made to the Public Service Commission a short time ago, was to finance the trolley company.

Promoter J. K. Newman and his associates, who reorganized the waterlogged wreck of the United Railways with a huge profit in sight if they could get a new long-term franchise, are in a bad way as to this promotion bonanza. They failed to get a franchise under the charter and thus create a market for the bonds to fall due in 1934. So they went to the Mayor's rapid transit commission and asked its aid to get around the charter by way of Jefferson City upon the score that unless the coveted franchise is not forthcoming, the present company may not be here to be related to a rapid transit system when such a system is instituted. The commission therefore went to their aid and presented the spectacle of a municipal body seeking to violate the charter. How well the commission was able to defend this policy we shall see when we get to Mr. Kelker.

The Governor pressed Mr. Kelker to tell him (1) if the rapid transit plan would be held back by confining the street railway franchise to the terms of the charter; (2) if the terminable permits bill gives the city any power it does not possess now except to give franchises for more than 50 years. Mr. Kelker was unable to justify himself in either field. He admitted outright that the rapid transit plan would not be delayed by failure of the bill, and when he suggested that the bill would give the city contractual rights only inferential in the charter he impaled himself upon deft and amused inquiries to know how this could be so. Like Mr. Clarke, Mr. Kelker knew the terminable permits law would make the street car company a perpetual beneficiary of any new transportation plan. Of course, the Governor had great difficulty keeping a straight face at this.

The testimony of these two men and the Governor's examination of them was all there was to the hearing. The proposal plainly was: "Shall the city set the charter aside to give the company a perpetual franchise?"

It must be immensely funny to Charlie Munroe, who rode so cavalierly out of town on a perpetual franchise with $7,000,000 in his saddlebags for himself and his fellow pirates; but even pirates are shipwrecked, and we are a Christian people.

Stick to the charter.

UNCLE SAM'S PRINCIPLE GENEROSITY.

In 1918 the United States Government paid $1,600,000 for radio patents to the Federal Telegraph Co. of California. Three years later, in March, 1921, the Government, through a contract executed by the then Secretary of the Navy Denby, conveyed back to the Federal Telegraph Co. all right and title to the patents, without price, reserving only the right to continue using them.

Why the Government made this princely gift to the Federal Telegraph Co. has completely mystified the members of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, which is investigating the transaction. They cannot understand such handsome generosity on the part of Uncle Sam, who can be, and often is, a niggardly trader.

We don't know of anybody who can understand it.

THE BISHOP AND LADY LUCK.

It is at once a privilege and pleasure to come to the defense of Bishop Cannon. The votaries of the Demon Rum may cackle at this good man's discomfiture. Some of them may even point the finger of scorn at his virtuous pretensions. Aye, they may draw away from him as a contaminating influence, because, forsooth, he has been discovered among the Get-Rich-Quicksters, buying stocks here, there and over yonder, and hoping and, it may be, praying, that a meteoric market would pour its abundance upon him and initiate him into the fellowship of Dives, Croesus, John D. and Henry.

That, after all, is the head and front of the Bishop's offending. And who of us, we should like to ask, has never felt his palms itch, never wrestled with the wily old tempter, Avarice, never dreamed of tidal streams of gold, never sought affluence, as did the Bishop, in the Old Oaken Bucket-shop?

We have heard men profess a superior indifference to worldly goods; affect a haughty disdain for the acquisitional gift; deplore the crass materialism of the age in rounded periods, crackling invectives, plouetting apostrophes. Such birds have always left us cold. A Thoreau appears once or twice in a million, perhaps, but the rest of us are as we are. We quote from the forgotten book of a juvenile socialist long since returned to the flesh pots:

"Money is power and dominion. It is wine, woman and song. It is tropic skies in winter and ocean's breath in summer. It is horses and diamonds and silks and automobiles. Nobody possesses it and it possesses everybody."

So the good Bishop Cannon, who wants us all to join his church, and particularly wants all Democrats to sing in his church choir, is enmeshed in the mortal coils that grip us all. Not for us to stand like an avenging border patrolman and fill him full of lead for that he has vainly wooed Lady Luck of the Ticker. We've all sought that tricky jade's favors and have emerged from the trance as has Bishop Cannon—sadder, poorer, but, praise heaven, no wiser.

POLITICS AND THE FEDERAL BENCH.

President Hoover's hopeful plan for eliminating, or substantially reducing, the influence of politics in the appointing of Federal Judges has already come a cropper in Pennsylvania and has encountered an impasse in Kansas.

In Pennsylvania where a vacancy occurred there were two candidates. One of them, Clarence Baleline, was the preponderant choice of the Lackawanna County bar, besides having persuasive civic endorsements. The other candidate, Albert L. Watson, was had anything but a distinguished professional career, according to a Scranton paper, which says his specialty was uncontested divorce cases. Once he quit the law to become a bond salesman. His bench experience is limited to a year as County Judge, to which place he was appointed; he was defeated when up for election. But Watson was supported by the Republican State organization and the president of the Pennsylvania Railroad. After an examination by the Department of Justice, Attorney-General Mitchell declined to recommend Watson. The politicians got to work, culminating in the reported declaration of Senator David Reed that, unless Watson was appointed, he could not answer for the Pennsylvania Republican delegation in Congress. Mr. Hoover surrendered by submitting Watson's name to the Senate.

In Kansas the politically approved candidate is Judge Hopkins of the State Supreme Court, who is also a national director of the Anti-Saloon League, and with whose qualifications for the Federal bench Attorney-General Mitchell is said not to be impressed. But the two United States Senators from Kansas, Arthur Capper and Henry Allen, after conferring with the President, are standing pat on Hopkins.

Should Mr. Hoover yield again, as in the Pennsylvania instance, his praiseworthy purpose of selecting Federal Judges on merit rather than political availability will have gone glimmering; will have been proved to be "of such stuff as 'iridescent' dreams are made of."

A DISTINGUISHED INSTITUTION.

In its comparatively short existence of 15 years, Central Institute for the Deaf has made its impress. We read with pleasure of the dedication of its new $400,000 home on Kingshighway, elaborately equipped for one of the most difficult branches of teaching, and of the gifts which have come to the school from so many sources. These gifts, amounting to $365,000, are evidence of the confidence and affections the school has inspired.

Among the many things which the school has done to earn its nation-wide reputation is the creation of the acoustic method of instruction, establishment of the first training school for teachers of the deaf with a university curriculum and entrance requirements, and organization of the Society of Progressive Oral Advocates (a body which upholds oral instruction against old-fashioned sign language). The school is notable, too, as being the first one of its kind to accept pupils of kindergarten age.

We congratulate Dr. Max A. Goldstein, its founder and director, and all those who have contributed to the success of this distinguished institution.

BOWDLERIZING A GREAT BOOK.

Erich Maria Remarque, a German author, has written in "All Quiet on the Western Front" a novel that is said to be the most forthright and appalling account of the late war yet to appear. If the play, "What Price Glory," was destined to repel the mind of youth from even the thought of the war, this book, it is agreed, will have an effect 40 times as great. In Germany it sold more than 500,000 copies. In England, too, it has found a wide public, and now recently introduced into this country it has already gained an amazing circulation.

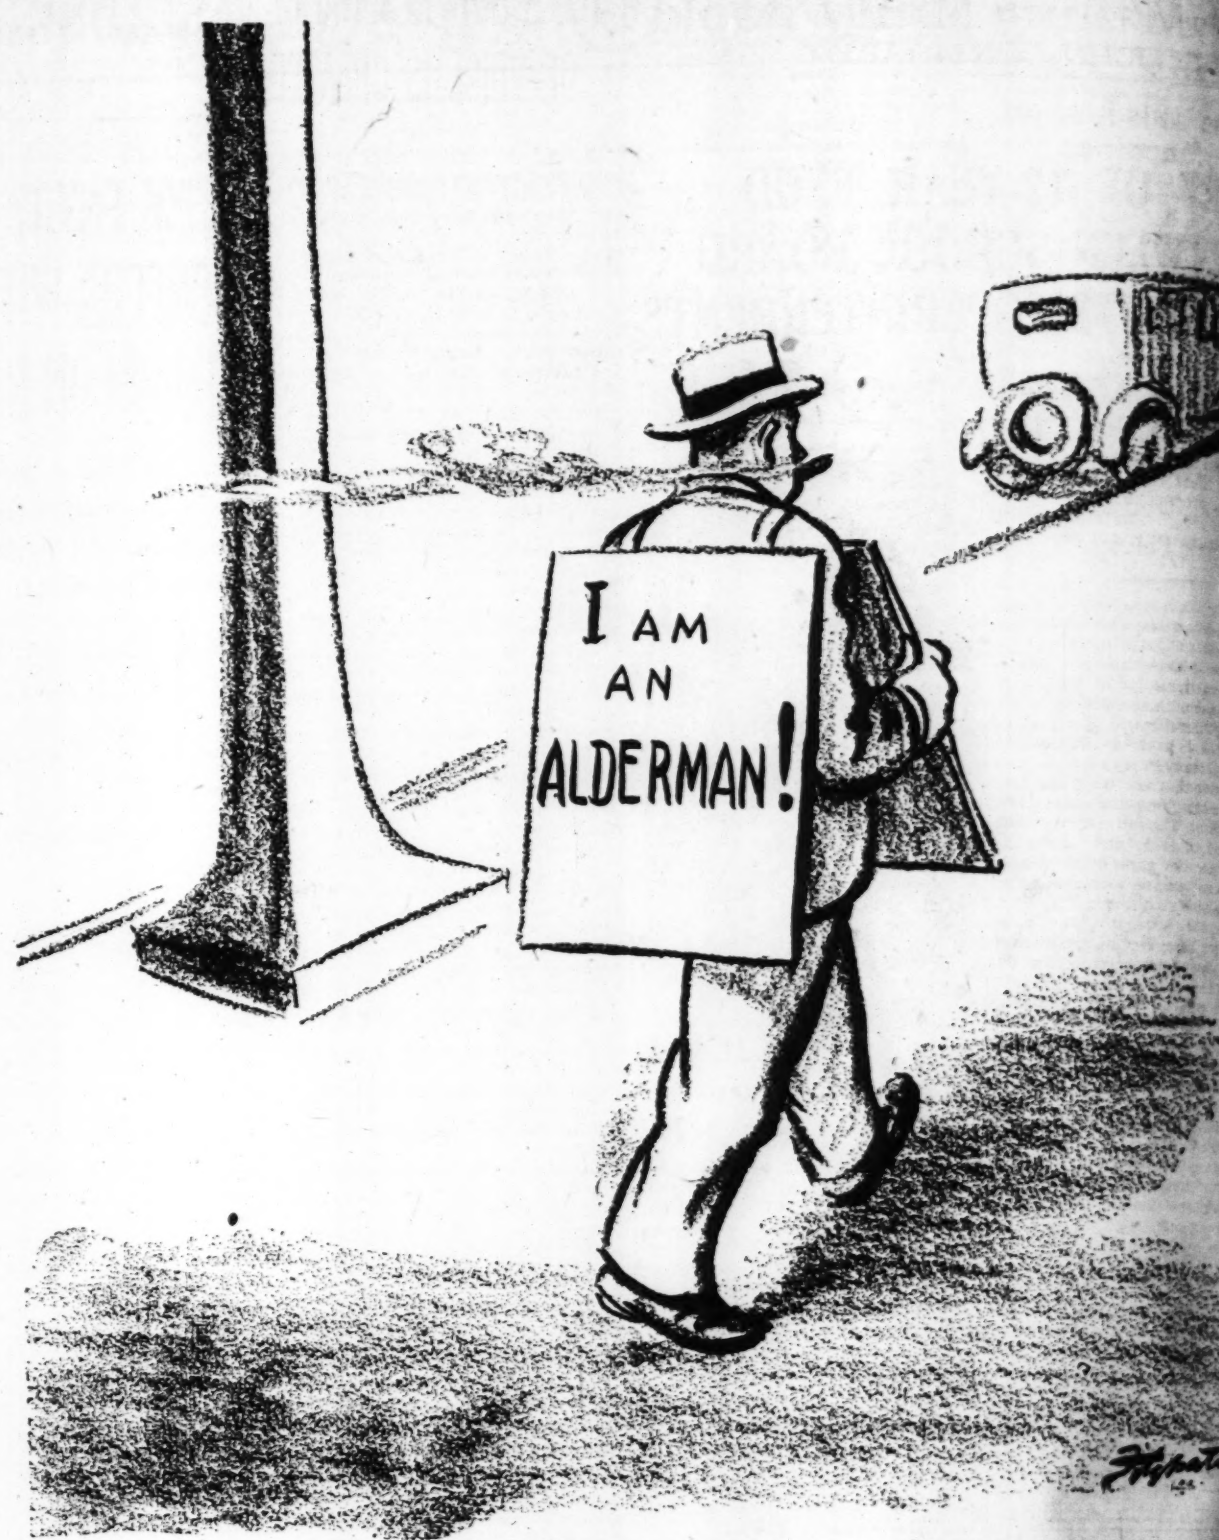

It develops, however, that the book has been censored for America. The publishers made certain deletions, fearing the stringency of the censorship laws. Further, the Book of the Month Club ordered even more drastic cuts before it accepted "All Quiet on the Western Front" for distribution. In the trade edition of the work no indication of these deletions and changes is given the reader. The publishers may perhaps be excused, the censorship laws being what they are, and inasmuch as it is generally felt that the minor changes they made in no way lessen the terrific impact of the book. But at least we should like to know that we are buying a bowdlerized edition. And there seems little or no reason to excuse the Book of the Month Club. In censoring literature to meet the tastes of their hundred thousand readers they are playing directly into the hands of those who would gladly see them destroyed.

Wouldn't we better send an ambulance to Chicago for the Cardinals?

"POPPA, WHO IS THAT MAN?"

Poppa, who is that man over there? What man, my child? That corpulent guy, dad-dy. Oh, him? That is an Alderman, my child. And what is an Alderman, poppa? Why, he is a city father. Have you not heard of city fathers? But, poppa, why should he look so sheepish? He has just received his official badge, my child, and every-time he buttons up his coat, it tickles him. I guess he ought to feel tickled, hey, pop? Right-o, my son, because with this badge he can argue speed cops out of a pinch, crash in-num-er-able gates, see the movies for nix, grab pea-nuts at any stand he pleases and strike his friends dumb with admir-a-tion. Many foolish women fall for a badge like they did for a uniform during the war. You ought to know, hey, pop, because you was a Lieutenant during the late un-pleasantness, ain't that right, pop? Let us not discuss that, my child. Here is a bright, shiny nickel. Let us not worry mother with de-tails that would bother her. Describe the badge to me, pop. It is of rolled gold, my boy, and it rolled the public ten berries a-piece, or a total of $250 for the entire lay-out. Is that justice, poppa? No, my son, that is pol-itics of the va-ri-ety known as pea-nut.

Where MacDonald sits is now the head of the table.

WHY STOP AT BADGES?

The Greatest General

A review of the military achievements of General Grant; how he formed a nutcracker to crush the Confederate armies; how the real victory, unknown to the North, came between May 4 and June 14, 1864, leaving the South's only hope in the political field; if Grant had been in charge of the German army, thinks Chicago newspaper, World War would have ended in February, 1915.

From the Chicago Tribune.

SIXTY-FIVE years ago Grant had assured the union of the American states in the indissoluble republic by the success of the greatest military operation the world had known. Its like had not entered into the mind of any general before. Its success has never been repeated. There never before had been such a maneuver of armies. There has not been such a line in any war since. There had, of course, never been such a line before.

No other General ever had included so vast a region in operations released simultaneously by a single command, each army with its objective, each movement interlocked with the other, and with success destined for the whole.

Sixty-five years ago he was Lieutenant-General of the United States with headquarters in the field and commanding all the forces of the North. He had been somewhat recognized or he would not have had that command, but in a way it was a choice of despair. All other Northern generals had failed in the Virginia field. His previous experience had been to take Forts Henry and Donelson in two weeks. He took Vicksburg in two months after he got his troops on dry land. In that time he put his army between Pemberton and Johnston, fought five pitched battles, marched 290 miles, and had besieged and taken a nearly impregnable town.

He had moved on to rescue Rosecrans in Chattanooga and had opened the way south to the subsequent grand maneuver. All of these movements had been of almost miraculous certainty. They were destined for success. Grant never was stopped short of an objective, whether it was the trivial one of keeping Leonidas Polk out of Paducah or the great one of moving a half dozen armies at one command, from salt water to salt water, by mountain, valley, and plain.

The order to go, given 65 years ago in May, released a line from Virginia peninsula to Louisiana. The Army of the Potomac was the center. Butler and the Army of the James was part of the left. The navy was another part. Sigel in the Shenandoah was the beginning of the right. Sherman advancing on Georgia continued it. Banks with an army in the southwest was its further continuation.

It was a nutcracker. The Army of the Potomac crossed the Rapidan the midnight of May 2-4, with Meade in command. Lieutenant-General Grant, headquarters in the field, was with it. It went across the Rapidan into the sacrificial field of three years of failure.

June 14 the Army of the Potomac had crossed the James. It was south of Lee. The Army of Northern Virginia was shut in on the Petersburg-Richmond line. In less than six weeks, from May 4 to June 14, the Army of the Potomac had fought the equivalent of four Chancellorsville. It had fought four Fredericksburgs. It had fought four such battles as had wrecked Pope, Burnside and Hooker. Day by day it had thrown Lee back. It had taken every field which had destroyed Federal hopes in Virginia since the first battle of Manassas in '61, and it had marched south. It had been rocked on its feet. It had been shocked, staggered and almost disrupted by the stabs of the master tactician, Lee, but it had not ceased to go ahead.

It had fought the horror of the Wilderness, and had gone on to the terror of Spotsylvania. It had taken the fighting on to the North Anna, after which Grant advised Halleck in Washington that "Lee's army is really whipped." It then took the historic punishment of Cold Harbor, and two days later it had crossed the James. It was bled white, but its flags for the first time in the war kept on south.

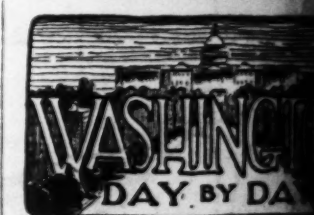

The achievement was beyond precedent in the war, and it was purely Grant. He crossed the Rapidan with 116,000 men. He crossed the James with 115,000. He had 40,000 reinforcements. Forty thousand was the use and waste of war. The undisturbed mind was Grant's.

From May 4 to June 14 Grant had done in the center what no Federal general could do, and what Lee had been unable to do in three years' fighting. He had a decision. The South was lost. The North did not know it, but the South did. Its hope then was only political. Would the North in the election reject Lincoln and denounce the war?

In the great concerted movement Sigel in the Shenandoah had failed. He was recalled. Hunter succeeded him and, not for personal incompetence, failed. Butler in the peninsula failed, and bottled himself up. The great General had to accept this. His immediate flanks had exposed him. They had collapsed. If he could have been three Grants, Lee would have been surrounded in July, 1864, instead of April, 1865. The failures of Sigel and Butler produced the situation requiring the siege of Petersburg. But Lee was confined there and immobilized in spite of Early's raid on Washington through the Shenandoah valley. Banks also failed, but in June, 1864, Grant had offered the Union a victory it never has fully appreciated, so astonishing was the success of this master of campaigns.

His great scheme, certain in conception, could not fail, but the North, knowing less than is known now of what had been done and was being done, had its deepest despair. Early's raid on Washington, which Sheridan ultimately stopped by utterly destroying Early, caused a renewal of the old consternation. Lincoln understood Grant, but expected his own political defeat, and wondered how he could save the Union between the election and the inauguration of his antiwar successor. The Democratic national convention met in Chicago and declared the war a failure at a time when the greatest of all generals, Ulysses S. Grant, was offering victory to an unseeing nation.

Curiously enough there was more political effect when the right, under Sherman, pro-

WASHINGTON

ONE of the very few survivors of the South in Congress—a 15-year member of the Senate—has made the attempt to wipe out any trace of slavery that may exist between the North and the South.

He is Senator Lee S. Overman of North Carolina, for 24 years a representative of his State in the Senate and the leading Democrat of that body.

Senator Overman asked his colleagues to approve a plan which he believed would perpetuate the memorable saying of Grant at the close of the Civil War: "Let us clasp hands across the chasm."

THERE is being constructed in the center of the city a bridge across the Potomac. The bridge will be symbolic of a union. It stretches from the Lincoln Memorial on the Washington side of the river to Arlington National Cemetery on the Virginia side.

Senator Overman asks that the subject as to who would be the famous figure of Ulysses S. Grant, south. And at the south's end of the bridge he would have placed a statue of Robert E. Lee, facing north.

Of Making Many Books

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

The Wisdom of Machines

ADRAIC COLUM'S alleged play entitled "Balloons," which was published in this column yesterday, has another striking example of a characteristic trend in modern literature and modern life. That trend is concerned with the repudiation of form, of creative pattern, of meaning. Just as the original social view of individual conduct in the realm of morals is concerned with the repudiation of the moral code, so the modern view of the individual is concerned with the repudiation of the moral code. Just as the modern view of the individual is concerned with the repudiation of the moral code, so the modern view of the individual is concerned with the repudiation of the moral code.

Walter Lippmann's "A Preface to Morals" presents an illuminating discussion of the causes and consequences of this anarchic trend in modern life, and anyone who is familiar with the distinctly modern literature of the past decade should have no difficulty in recognizing many works in all fields of writing that illustrate the trend. The modern literature of the past decade is characterized by the "stream of consciousness" type of fiction that is like nothing so much as a fever dream, and to those ponderous "novels" that consist of a collection of unorganized human life and conduct, with no attempt at interpretation of any kind.

It is readily granted that revolt against obsolete dogma, no longer supported by the sanction of human knowledge, may be justified, but to discard an obsolete pattern of life is not the same as trying to live with no pattern whatever. And the same is true in the matter of making literature, which, after all, is a twaddle. It has been twaddled, is twaddled, and will be twaddled. The anarchic mood incident to the discarding of dogmatic patterns that no longer serve, the original "modern" man, in both living and literature, has helped to create a conclusion that there is something hopelessly wrong with the very idea of organic form, of creative pattern, of meaningfulness. He has not realized the basic fact in all human experience that all the meanings we have, ever have had or ever shall have, must be created by the human consciousness itself. Obviously, nothing can have meaning for us until we have interpreted it to ourselves. Meanings are mental patterns formed out of the apparently chaotic data of our experience by a process of selection, rejection and integration; and it is wholly by virtue of such mental patterns that we can live at all. This anarchic state of affairs is often attributed glibly to the fact that we are living in "the machine age," and if one knows what one means, the explanation is correct. But it is not the machine, as such, that must be blamed. It is rather the inability of men, thus far, to use the power of machines with wisdom equal to that wisdom which is inherent in the very structure of machines.

If anyone wishes to see an overwhelmingly convincing objective representation of perfect sanity, of what organic form and creative pattern signify, of what intelligent selection, rejection and integration mean, let him contemplate a well-tuned gasoline motor in action. As a matter of fact, our machines are infinitely wiser than our characteristically "modern" literature and our characteristically "modern" notion of life; and there is more downright intelligence under the greasy cap of many a mechanic than in all the heads of all our excessively "civilized" sophistries.

Let us see what a typically "modern" "realistic" novelist might learn by studying the engine of the automobile that he drives every day. He will tell you that his novels are formless for the very good reason that human life is so, and that to represent it otherwise is as chaotic as would be to represent it as a machine. It is true, as anyone above the mentality of an idiot must often have observed with misgivings, that the facts of life, when viewed by an uncreative intelligence, are apparently a chaos. But with exactly the same justification it might be pointed out that an engine is a misrepresentation of the facts of matter and potential energy because the materials of which it was created by the process of selection, rejection and integration were originally in a chaotic state and widely scattered. It was by the application of a dynamic pattern to the chaos of material that the engine came into being; and the resultant flow of power under control is an "emergent value" exactly as the creative meaning of a great work of literature is, or the sanity and virtue of a well-lived life.

To organize the chaotic is not to falsify. On the contrary, it is the only method by which any livable human truth can be realized.

Some day our "modern" writers may become truly modern enough to catch up with the intelligence of our creative mechanics.

TELLS HOW RESONANCE OF VOICE IS CREATED

Dr. T. G. Russell Says It Arises Solely From Quality of Vibrations of Vocal Cords.

Resonance of the human voice is created by the quality of vibrations in the vocal chords, and not by the sinuses, which are cavities in the head, or by the chest, it was declared by Dr. G. Oscar Russell at the twelfth annual meeting of the Society of Progressive Oral Advocates, at Central Institute for the Deaf yesterday.

Dr. Russell is director of the phonetics laboratory of Ohio State University, and the director of instruments which he demonstrated, the "auto-fono-faryngoskop," by which it is possible to see the vocal chords in action, and the "auto-periaryngoskop," relating to the larynx. Voice tones which are "dead," guttural or carry poorly result, he said, from the muffling effect on the vocal chords of the cushion of the epiglottis.

Dr. Max F. Meyer, professor of psychology at the University of Missouri, who is working at Central Institute to produce a treatise on the psychology of the deaf child, demonstrated his model of the human cochlea, or internal ear, showing how sound waves, represented by varying air pressures, affected different portions of the cochlea simultaneously.

Miss Alice V. Burdick, principal of the Oral School for Deaf Children, Cincinnati, read a paper on the conservation of deaf children's vision, cautioning against overtaxing the eyes of these pupils and recommending careful watch on reading lights and posture.

Several other papers were read at yesterday's session and there was a demonstration of teaching methods for deaf children by pupils and teachers of Central Institute, which dedicated its new $400,000 building at 815 South Kingshighway Wednesday.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 21.—Thoughts while strolling through middle-aged women who "chaperone" young artists. And grown up ladies who carry Teddy bears. Nothing so cheerless as a hotel about to come down. The Negro with rattle-skin hat hand selling rubber snakes around the Plaza fountain.

Sinclair Lewis with good in the city. The adagio dancer who is a Sunday school teacher. Glenn Anders looks like a college boy. School teacher "lippers." Benny Leonard's slick hair. Beauty parlor cowboys. An insolent taxi driver hurls the dime tip at his fare. Vash Young window shopping.

Long-haired dreamers who carry limp leather sketch books. Ellen Glynn's wide brimmed hat. Ladies brilliant as electric lights. The brilliant, Gigolo types roaming hotel lobbies with long hair and a sure-footed cat. The gloom of the Pennsylvania station at night. The talkies grow dismal. Molly Picon, the Yiddish comedienne. Prof. J. B. Connelley, a sure-footed cat. The boys with dinky mustaches and derbies who ride in roadsters. Palm smothered table d'hotes. Who remain when the painted card cases were what ho! The drug store army of malted milk lunchers. H. H. Van Loan is Mayor Walker's double. So is Neal O'Hara.

Mrs. Brock Pemberton, who has costumed so many stage hits. Seaside candy stores refusing to go chain store. Lily cool green frocks and wide floppy hats. Stock market vortices from the outland seeling the summer shows. The flapper first night who sports a monocle. Whatever became of Jesse Reed?

And now the hired book-enders are three-sheeted on billboards. All night dental parlors featuring half price after 3 a. m. Ted Healy, a new favorite of the revues. A pajama shop. New York's threadbare words, "gorgeous" and "absolutely." Mme. Aida of the opera. The whitest haired dramatic critic in town, E. W. Osborn.

Ladies herets that may be carried in vanity cases. A new feed drink—watermelon juice. $1.59 shirts again. Pretty hard to resist stopping to watch them lay an asphalt sidewalk. Autograph collectors waiting at stage doors. The Madison Avenue shop where President Hoover buys his cigars. Very wuh-wah!

A TRUE story. She was living high up in a boarding house hall room awaiting an engaged man in a chorus. One midnight her agent phoned her to meet him at a certain yacht dock. He had provided her as a guest for a rich man on a week-end yacht trip along with several other merry magdalenas. The yacht owner fell in love at first sight and she fell in love with him. When she returned she deposited $17,000 in a bank for her treasure. Three weeks later he died. Six weeks later she was broke again and hunting a job Broadway! Dear old Broadway!

THE speed of New York building wreckers offers a bit of metropolitan magic. In the demolition of a large building a day over time entails a gigantic loss. Wreckers estimate the time required and if it takes more time they must pay a forfeit. If they beat their own estimate they receive a bonus. The old Broadway Theater was recently razed in 15 days. The Vanderbilt mansion wreckers bargained to complete the job in 29 days and took 31—thereby taking a big loss. The most famous of the wreckers was Jacob Volk, son of an East Side butcher. Volk passed on recently, worth millions. His crews demolished some of the biggest structures. He could almost tell at a glance how long it would take to bring a building down. His great ambition was to tackle the Woolworth tower, supposed to have the greatest of all architectural permanence. He believed it could be done in a year.

COURTNEY RILEY COOPER was seen pacing up and down nervously in front of a Madison Avenue tailor shop where "a set of threads" cost $210—the highest price for a tailored suit in town. "I'm trying to sell myself the idea," he explained to a friend. (Copyright, 1929.)

CONGRESSMAN TUCKER TO WED Virginian, 76, Will Marry Head of "Commons" Home Wednesday. By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Representative Henry St. George Tucker of Virginia, who has been here as a member of a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee investigating the official conduct of United States Judge Grover M. Moscovitz, disclosed before his departure today that he is to be married next week.

The Congressman, who is 76 years old, will be married next Wednesday at Culpepper, Va., to Miss Mary Jane Williams, who for the last 14 years has been superintendent of the Louise Home for Needy Southern Gentlewomen in Washington.

New Home to Surprise Capt. Fried. By the Associated Press.

YONKERS, N. Y., June 21.—Capt. George Fried of the steamship America, hero of two rescues at sea, is to receive a surprise after his ship docks at Hoboken tomorrow. A delegation of Yonkers citizens and Mrs. Fried are to meet him and bring him in an automobile parade to a new home bought by Mrs. Fried without his knowledge.

Mail Service to South America. By the Associated Press.

COLON, Canal Zone, June 21.—A Pan-American plane piloted by F. Ormsby left France Field this morning on the first mail flight to the east coast of South America. Stops were planned at Cartagena and Barranquilla, Colombia, and Curacao. The plane also will go to Maracaibo, where President Juan F. Triunfo, who is a passenger, will visit the recently-elected President of Venezuela.

West Point Abandons Historic Hall. By the Associated Press.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 21.—Use of Grant Hall, in which Custer, Goethals, Pershing and every other cadet at the Military Academy has eaten since 1850, has been discontinued. The mess is now in Washington Hall, an up-to-date building.

Dr. Edgar O. Crossman Dies. By the Associated Press.

BEDFORD, N. H., June 21.—Dr. Edgar O. Crossman, 65 years old, medical director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, died today at his summer home here. He had been ill for two weeks.

BOTH SIDES LOSE IN SUITS ON REFRIGERATOR PATENTS

No Infringement by Either, Judge Faris Rules in Gruendler-Hussmann Cases.

The Gustav J. Gruendler Manufacturing Co. lost its patent suit against the Herry L. Hussmann Refrigerator Co., which also lost its counter-claim against the former company in a decision today by Federal Judge Faris, who held that neither had infringed on the other's patents for a movable drip pan for refrigerators.

The suit is one of several infringement suits between the two companies in the last eight years. The case decided today, asking for an injunction and accounting, was filed two years ago.

The decision stated that the Gruendler Company did not have a patentable device in the whole, and, consequently, there could be no infringement. The Hussmann Company's patent also was invalid.

Judge Faris ruled, because it had used the draining device for three years before applying for a patent.

Woman Bread-Winner Bankrupt.

Mrs. Nelle Rush, housekeeper at the Roosevelt Hotel, told Referee Coles yesterday that her failure to operate the Newstead Hotel successfully last winter forced her into bankruptcy May 29. She supports a daughter and an invalid husband. Her schedules list debts of $3708 and assets of $700.

BOY SCOUTS REMOVE SIGNS ALONG ROAD

Carry Out Contract With Association of Persons-Living on Bellefontaine Highway.

Bellefontaine road is now clear of signs on its right of way, members of Boy Scout Troop 230, under the auspices of the Bellefontaine Road Improvement Association, having torn them down.

A truck for the scouts was provided by the association, and they garnered a heap of new and tattered signs of all descriptions under the direction of Scoutmaster Eugene Turton. According to Ernest Boyd, president of the association, residents along the road complained of the advertisements that various companies posted along the right of way following the heavy increase of traffic resultant from the opening of the Lewis and Clark bridges.

As the scouts were seeking a fund with which to buy a truck for outing purposes, their sign-gathering contract provided the nucleus of the fund.

"We have practically all the signs down and the scouts will keep them down," Boyd said. "We can't expect to get the signs down from the property owners' land for that is their own business. If they wish to mar the country landscape, they may learn in time that in doing so they are detracting from and not adding to, country life."

"We don't favor boycotting the goods of advertisers who by billboard advertising, mar the countryside, but our work suggests to St. Louis advertisers that once started, a civic movement can work havoc on sales and advertising results through a country-wide movement such as has just proven successful on Bellefontaine road."

SALE OF U. S. MINING STOCK IN PARIS IS INVESTIGATED

Magistrate Acts After Hearing Charges That Prices Were Manipulated.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 21.—Charges are being investigated here that small investors were defrauded of about $2,000,000 through the sale in Paris at exaggerated prices of 2,000,000 shares of a Los Angeles company which operates copper mines in Arizona. It was stated that nothing indicated that the company itself had anything to do with the affair.

Examining Magistrate Audibert, upon a report from secret service men, summoned Louis Bonhomme, alleged to be the organizer of a high pressure sales campaign, to explain the situation. Nine small bankers and brokers were also summoned.

It is charged that the shares issued by the company, which was organized in 1926, were sold at 10 and 20 times their real value through rigged quotations in the over-the-counter market.

HOOVER TO TAKE NO PART IN NAMING NEW YORK G. O. P. HEAD

President Will Not Interfere in Selecting Successor to Machold.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 21.—It was stated officially today at the White House that President Hoover would not interfere in any way in the selection of a chairman of the State Republican Committee of New York, to succeed H. Edmond
Machold.

Officials said that any reports to the contrary were entirely erroneous and that the President regarded the selection of the chairman as purely an internal matter for the State party organization.

Machold has called a meeting of the county chairmen for next week to select his successor. He was made State chairman during the last presidential campaign and after the election was appointed by President Hoover to be chairman of the New York State Committee to deal with patronage matters. The other members of that committee were Charles D. Hilles, Republican National Committeeman for New York, and William H. Hill, who headed the Independent Hoover-for-President movement.

After Machold's successor has been selected, some readjustment in the lineup of the patronage committee unquestionably will be necessary, but the President will not give that matter his attention until after the new chairman has been selected.

POINCARÉ AGAINST REOPENING OF DEBT PARLEYS

French Premier Tells Deputies That New Negotiations Would Result in Less Favorable Terms.

By ARNO DOSCH FLEUROT, Paris Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
PARIS, June 21.—It would be useless for France to attempt to reopen war debt negotiations with the United States, Premier Poincaré informed the joint finance and foreign affairs commission of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday in his long exposition of why the Government seeks immediate ratification by Parliament of the Mellon-Berenger and Churchill-Cailiaux war debt agreements.

The Premier said: "It is certain we have not obtained an agreement such as we ought to have had in Washington; but if we were to reopen negotiations today we would get much less. I take full responsibility for what I say and add that there is no statesman in France who would dare risk fresh negotiations with the United States."

The attitude of the United States toward money matters is harder under President Hoover than it was under President Coolidge, the Premier intimated, explaining that Mr. Hoover's position dated from 1921, when he declared Europe's war debts must be paid or international confidence would be ruined.

Poincaré is pushing hard for ratification of the war debt agreements and also for approval of the Young plan for a reparations settlement. The corridors of the Chamber of Deputies are buzzing with discussion of means by which France might be safeguarded against the obligations to pay America if Germany defaults on reparations payments. Many are of the opinion it would be wiser for France to sell her share of German reparations bonds in the United States rather than use them to retire part of France's internal debt. By this means, it is pointed out, American interest in seeing that Germany meets her obligations under the Young plan would be kept alive.

Except for the Communist and Socialist press little opposition has appeared to Premier Poincaré's pronouncements in favor of early ratification of the debt agreements.

Seeks Woman's Return to Aurora.
AURORA, Mo., June 21.—Sheriff A. N. Hensley left for Jefferson City Wednesday evening, where he will get a requisition on the Governor of Wisconsin for the return of Hazel Pitts, 46 years old, who is alleged to have passed a number of worthless checks on Rance Carter, a farmer of this county, about six months ago. She was a member of a party of wood choppers and is held at La Crosse.

Popular Bluff Alleged Forger Held.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., June 21.—Faye Ward of Pench Orchard, Ark., waived preliminary hearing when taken before Judge Babcock yesterday to face charges of forgery. He was returned to jail in default of $1000 bond, and will be given trial at the July term of court.

HUNT HEADS TRAPSHOOTERS

Elected President of Arkansas Association at Osceola Meeting.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
OSCEOLA, Ark., June 21.—Hebert Shippen of Osceola won the Arkansas State championship at single targets in the annual State trap shoot which closed here Tuesday, breaking 193 out of 200 targets. R. M. Fletcher, also of Osceola, was runner-up with 192.

P. Smead of Osceola won in the doubles, breaking 81 out of 100, and Julius B. Petty of England, who won the tri-state meet at Memphis recently, was second with a score of 89. G. D. Kenney of Seyppel was third, breaking 79 targets.

gets. A. F. Williams Jr. of Driver won the championship in the contest for junior boys, breaking 86 out of 100. Charles Jackson of England was second with 82.

At the meeting of Arkansas State Trapshooters' Association, W. E. Hunt, president of the Osceola Gun Club, was elected president, Julius Petty was elected vice president and Mrs. F. J. Hixon of Turrell was re-elected secretary and treasurer. The 1930 shoot will be held at Osceola.

MARINATE FILLETS OF LAMB AND THEN SAUTER THEM

This Is the Method-Used by French Cooks in Cooking This Meat.

The habit of French and Italian cooks to marinate a good many of their meats overnight in French dressing is an excellent way of improving the flavor of the dish and the tenderness of the meat.

Take sautéed fillet of lamb for instance. This is one of the prize dishes of the French people. To make it take two pounds of lamb cut from the forequarters. Have the bones removed and cut the meat in strips an inch thick and flatten the strips with a cleaver.

Arrange the fillets on a platter and pour over them a dressing made of three tablespoons olive oil, stantly spread and made up.

juice of half a lemon half-teaspoon salt, a small onion chopped and some minced parsley. Turn the meat once so that every portion of it may be saturated with the dressing.

Allow fillets to stand overnight in the dressing. When ready to cook proceed to sauté in deep hot fat until fillets are cooked and colored a delicate golden brown.

Use one teaspoon of tea to a cup of boiling water.

Make a Note of This.

In toasted sandwiches, the freshly toasted hot bread should be made of three tablespoons olive oil, stantly spread and made up.

UNEXPECTED GUESTS ARRIVE FOR DINNER

Situation Must Be Met Though There May Not Be Enough Chops.

About 6:30 just as the chops were about to be cooked there came a ring at the door bell, and a hearty voice explained, "we thought we'd surprise you and drop in for dinner."

Surprise was the right word! While greeting my two unexpected guests, I was frantically remembering that the stores closed at 6, that one chop a piece was hardly hearty fare for masculine appetites, and wondering how I could manage to keep up my reputation for always being able to "make something out of nothing."

Suddenly I remembered the sausages that were to do for breakfast next day and I decided, those must be sacrificed to make what restaurants call "a mixed grill."

Fortunately there was plenty of lettuce, and the drug store could be called upon to supply ice cream to serve with the strawberry sauce. As revised my menu now stood for broiled chops, sausage and tomatoes to make a mixed grill, potatoes mashed to a fluffy whiteness, peas, a plain salad tossed in French dressing and served on chilled plates, vanilla ice cream with strawberries, and coffee.

A long breath of relief when dinner was safely under way, and an inward vow registered to never again be caught in a like situation by just ordering enough chops.

In case you find yourself in such a predicament, perhaps you would like to know about the meat combination I have mentioned.

Any kind of chops may be used. In this case they were lamb, cut from the loin.

Broil them, along with firm ripe tomatoes cut in half, sprinkled with salt and pepper and dotted with a small piece of butter.

The chops will have to be turned frequently while broiling, but leave the tomatoes alone. They will both take about 10 minutes to cook.

Meanwhile the sausages may be cooked slowly in a hot frying pan, or they may be baked in the oven while the chops are broiled.

For serving arrange a chop, two or three sausages and a half a tomato on hot plates, or on a hot platter, having the sausage in the center surrounded by chops and tomatoes.

Veal chops with slices of pineapple and veal kidney make another excellent grill if you have time to plan for it, or pork chops, slices of apple and large mushrooms.

Kale and Corned Beef. Wash the kale and blanch it for five minutes in boiling water. Drain, chop, and place in a saucepan. Add the hot corned beef and one cupful of the water in which the beef was cooked. Cover and cook slowly until tender, 20 to 30 minutes. Adding a cupful of corned beef liquid if needed.

Egg Paste Sandwiches. Mash fine hard-cooked egg yolks and bring to a paste with mayonnaise or with lemon juice, seasoned with salt and pepper. Spread between slices of buttered bread.

GREEN VEGETABLES FOR HEALTH'S SAKE

A Generous Supply of Summer Greens Provides Good Health Insurance.

The last few years have marked a big improvement in the health value of the average American family diet, and this is largely because such a good variety of vegetables and fruits are now available at all times of the year.

Green vegetables are appetizing and healthful, and just now they are quite inexpensive—all excellent reasons for encouraging their use. From the health standpoint we eat vegetables for their mineral content, their vitamins, laxative value and their flavor.

Also this class of food contains a large percentage of water and as a consequence has a low calory or energy value. Therefore they may be freely eaten without the danger of adding pounds to one's weight. Furthermore, their flavor adds much to the palatability of a meal.

Lime and iron are two minerals that are much in demand by the body for the building of firm bones and tissue and for making good red blood. Green vegetables are an excellent source of both of these. Science has lately proved that the dark green vegetables are the richest in iron, so see that some of these—spinach, parsley, unbleached lettuce, etc.—are included in your supply.

We all know by this time how important the vitamins are and we should know that by using a good supply of raw and cooked vegetables we are assured of a large share of our daily requirement of these essential foods.

I say some raw vegetables, because vitamin C, which is present in them, is often lost in cooking. Fresh young vegetables such as asparagus, green beans, etc., have the largest vitamin content. See to it also that you use some in this form every day.

As laxatives, vegetables provide abundance of roughage and are excellent as a means of preventing constipation. Both raw and cooked vegetables are useful for this, and both should be used.

The supply of summer vegetables is so large and varied that it is impossible to say very much about the various ways of using them in this short space.

However, for the sake of variety have you ever tried boiled radishes, or baked summer squash, or a combination of cooked string beans and celery in cream? Now cabbage that is shredded for eight to 10 minutes is another suggestion so far as excellence in flavor is concerned.

Boiled radishes may be rather a novelty to you, and if you have an over supply they are a good means of varying the method of serving. Use the largest radishes, wash them, cut in halves without peeling, just cover with boiling water and boil for 10 minutes. By that time the radishes should be tender, and most of the water absorbed. Add butter, salt and pepper to season and serve hot. They will be pinkish in color and very delicate in flavor, slightly reminiscent of a cross between young turnips and squash. This may sound weird but they really taste very good.

To bake summer squash simply cut the squash crosswise in slices one-fourth inch thick. Remove seeds, place the slices on a greased dish, season with salt and pepper, cover and bake 20 minutes. Sprinkle with equal parts of grated cheese and buttered bread crumbs and cook 10 minutes more.

BRAN COOKERY IS FEATURED ON MANY FAMILY TABLES
Several Types of Diets Include Bran Breads and Cakes

Here are several tested recipes for hot breads made with bran. Biscuits made according to this recipe will be found most excellent. Take one and one-half cups white flour, one-half cup bran, five teaspoons baking powder, two tablespoons sugar, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one-half cup milk and three tablespoons shortening.

Mix bran with the flour which has been sifted with the salt, baking powder and sugar. Rub in the shortening and add the milk. Roll on a floured board to about one-half inch in thickness. Cut with a biscuit cutter, bake in a hot oven 12 to 15 minutes.

Muffins made of bran are very popular at luncheon. For muffins use two tablespoons shortening, one-fourth cup sugar, one cup sour milk, one cup bran, one egg, one cup flour, one-half teaspoon soda, one-fourth teaspoon salt and one teaspoon baking powder.

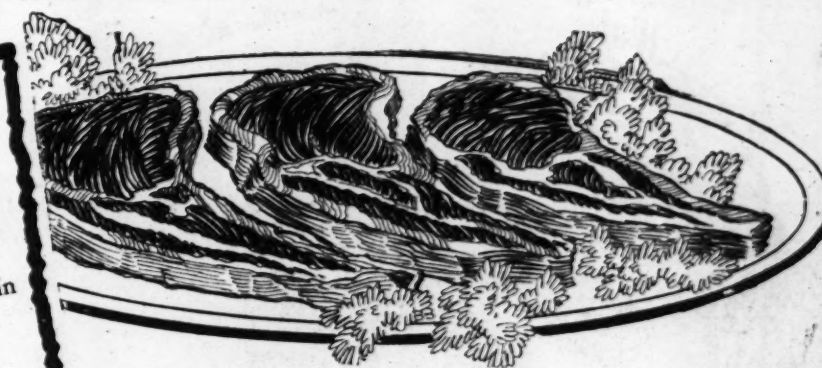

Cream shortening and sugar together, add the egg. Mix and sift flour, soda, salt and baking powder. To the creamed mixture add the bran, then the milk, alternately with the sifted dry ingredients. Pour into greased muffin tins and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes. If sweet milk is used instead of sour milk, omit the one-half-teaspoon of soda and use three teaspoons baking powder. Raisins or dates may be added to the muffins if desired.

Way to Percolate Coffee.
Place in the coffee pot as many cups of water as of coffee to be served, and add one extra cup. Into the upper part of the percolator measure one tablespoon of medium ground coffee for each cup. Place over the gas or turn on the current. When it begins to percolate, time it. Seven minutes is the time, and it should be watched very accurately.

SAVORY BEEF POT ROAST WITH TASTY VEGETABLES

This is a Nice Way to Cook a Piece of Meat Which is Not Tender.

Four pounds beef, one-third cup flour, fat from meat or other fat (about one-fourth cup), two cups carrots, cut in pieces, two cups sliced onions, two cups celery, cut in pieces, one cup tomatoes, three sprigs parsley, one tablespoon salt, pepper to taste, three tablespoons flour, three tablespoons cold water.

Wash the meat. Sprinkle the one-third cup flour over it. Brown the floured meat in the fat. Place a rack in a pan or kettle.

On top of the rack place the meat. Put the carrots, onions, celery, tomatoes and parsley around the meat. Add the salt and pepper. Cover the pan or kettle.

Bake in a slow oven for five hours. Remove the meat and vegetables to a hot platter.

Mix the three tablespoons of flour and cold water. Stir the mixture into the hot meat broth. Continue stirring and cook on the surface burner for at least five minutes. Serve hot with the meat and vegetables.

Date Bread Sandwiches. Have ready date bread that is at least a day old. Cut in thin slices. Spread with cream cheese beaten smooth with a little cream. Press together in pairs.

TASTY HOT POTATO SALAD

Some Like It Hot and Some Like It Cold.

Slice a few boiled potatoes and chop one onion and a few slices of bacon fine. Put onion with bacon in frying pan, give it a light color, add some vinegar and a little bouillon. Pour in hot over the pot. Season with a little pepper, salt and chopped parsley. Mix well, and serve warm.

Another Potato Salad. Slice some hot boiled potatoes, season with salt, pepper, chives and chopped onions (very fine). Add at the last minute a julienne of fried bacon mixed with the potato salad, and a spoonful of vinegar.

ONE BASE MAKES
MANY BEVERAGES

A Palatable Icy-Cold Refreshing Drink Always Meets With Favor.

Well made, cold beverages are welcome at any time of the year and at almost any kind of gathering, but especially at the evening party where there is dancing, at card parties or any other good times that bring together a group of young people. There are so many good recipes for making drinks and punches that there really is no excuse for the insipid concoctions one so often finds.

A good drink should be well blended in flavor and not too sweet. It should be attractive in color and cold and should have some "pep" or character. The use of charged water or some of the bottled carbonated beverages is recommended to supply this sparkle and to give character.

Here's Foundation. For convenience it is good to memorize a simple foundation recipe that may be varied in a great many ways. One of the best is made from a simple combination of oranges, lemons, sugar and water, using four oranges, two lemons, one cup of sugar and one quart of water.

Mix the sugar with two cups of the water and boil for five minutes. Then cool, add the rest of the water and the fruit juices. Strain and then use as desired. This foundation mixture may be kept for several days in a covered jar in a cold place. Some of the possible combinations are given below:

1. Add to the foundation mixture one cup of strong, freshly made, cold tea, one cup of pineapple juice, and two bottles of ginger ale. Pour over ice in a punch bowl, adding at the same time two cups of water.

2. Add to the foundation mixture one cup of strawberry juice, one quart of water, and pour the mixture over one quart of pineapple ice, or serve in tall glasses with a large spoon of pineapple ice in each glass. Garnish with a few fresh mint leaves, or with a long narrow strip of fresh or candied orange peel.

3. Chop one-half cup of fresh mint leaves, add one cup of boiling water and let stand five minutes. Then strain and cool. Pour this into the foundation mixture with one-half cup of fresh lime juice and one pint of grape juice. Dilute with one quart of water and pour over ice in the punch bowl, or serve in glasses one-third full of crushed ice.

TO COOL WATER IN SUMMER

Many Persons Prefer Drinking Water Cold, but not Iced.

During warm weather some people want drinking water cold, but not iced. Choose clean containers such as quart fruit jars, fill them with water and place them in the refrigerator.

Sometimes spring water is purchased or the water supply must be boiled to make it fit for human consumption. If water must be boiled, do so, then put it into sterilized containers, let it cool to room temperature, and place the covered jars in the refrigerator. This gives a supply of well cooled water.

CARROTS EN CASSEROLE

A Pleasing Way of Preparing These Wholesome Vegetables.

Wash carrots clean, scrape and slice thin; peel and slice onion thinly. Cover with boiling water and cook 15 minutes. Drain, reserving liquor.

Put vegetables in buttered casserole, cover with layer of bread crumbs, then repeat layers until materials are all used, with crumbs on top.

Add butter and salt to vegetable liquor in reserve, and pour over, sprinkling with parsley. Bake in oven one hour and 15 minutes.

JELLIED VEGETABLE SALAD

This Meets the Feminine Demand for a Summer Salad.

Dissolve one package lemon or lime gelatin in one pint boiling water. Set aside to chill.

Prepare one cup finely cut celery, one cup diced cucumber, two tablespoons chopped green pepper, one tablespoon chopped onion, and one tablespoon chopped parsley.

When gelatin begins to set, mix in the chopped vegetables. Pour in individual molds and turn out on a bed of lettuce. Garnish each salad with pineapple points, using a bit of ripe olive for the center. Serve with mayonnaise.

INDIVIDUAL SHORTCAKES

These Tarts, Are Among the Seasonable Cooked Desserts.

Roll out the mixture for baking powder biscuits to one-fourth inch in thickness. Cut in four-inch squares, and in the center of each place a tablespoonful of chopped, fresh apples, peaches, apricots, or sweetened berries, or of canned or stewed fruit, which has been sweetened. Fold up the edges, press them together and place, fold side down, in a baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes and serve hot with lemon marmalade or any of the hard sauces.

A Thought for the Day. Even a familiar garnish cut in a new way makes an "old-timer" take a new lease on life. Try the Julienne knife on the plebeian carrot, or the vegetable scoop on the oft-abused potato and see how they are lifted from the plane of the commonplace to the realm of fine art.

MANY DELICIOUS DESSERTS
MADE WITH GRAPE JUICE

Especially Appropriate to Serve at Informal Company Affairs.

Grape juice is both a wholesome food product and an interesting one as far as combining it with other foods go.

While we most frequently use it as a beverage it makes lovely jellies and desserts, which are most refreshing and invigorating for hot weather menus.

Grape Juice Jelly. Soak one package gelatin in one-half pint grape juice 10 minutes, add two cups boiling water, juice of one lemon and three-fourths of sugar, and when beginning to set, add one cup of grapes. Turn into mold first dipped into cold water, and chill. Serve with or without cream.

Grape Cream Cups. To one cupful of hot grape juice add one teaspoon of softened gelatin and set dish on ice, stirring it until it begins to thicken. Then fold it into a pint of whipped cream, using a tablespoon at a time, then fill little sponges cakes baked in cups, or fill pie pastry shells with the mixture.

Picnic Eggs. Cut hard cooked eggs in halves and remove yolk, season mix with chopped chicken and mayonnaise and refill. Salmon may be used in place of chicken.

Velveeta is made with most scrupulous care

There's a reason for the exquisite flavor of Velveeta; a reason for its velvety texture, and especially for its exceptional wholesomeness. It is first purely a milk product in the form of cheese.

But Velveeta is also something more. Velveeta represents the contribution of science to the art of cheese making. Through the aid of scientific research, we are at last able to combine in a cheese product all those precious health-giving qualities of the rich whole milk. By a special process we extract from the whole milk these additional Vitamins, Lactose (sugar of milk), Calcium and other milk minerals, and these we include in the making of Velveeta. The result is a product that looks like cheese, tastes like cheese, but which because of this added food value really should be called a super-cheese.

You can use Velveeta the same as you would use cheese. It spreads like butter. It can be sliced when chilled. It melts, dissolves and blends readily with other foods for all cooking purposes.

Children love it and it's as digestible as milk itself. Try a package—the family will remind you to buy it often.

From Coast to Coast!
This New-Day Bread for Toast

Makes Scorched Toast a Folly Won't You Please Try It Today?

It's sold by leading grocers everywhere. And at no extra cost to you.

BY ALICE ADAMS PROCTOR

A NEW way of toast-making has come into vogue. Leading food experts here are urging its adoption. Millions of women use it every day.

You get it from Wonder Bread, and Wonder Bread alone. So that is what you must always ask for.

It makes toast that is even, golden brown. Never scorched. Rarely a burned edge. It's faultless toast every time.

Cost us $6,000,000

Wonder Bread is utterly different from any other bread that you have ever tasted.

We spent two years in its development. It cost us $6,000,000. Today it is the largest-selling bread in America.

It is baked by expert bakers working in immaculate model kitchens. They use only tested ingredients.

They use only a specially milled "short parent" flour made from the heart of the wheat berry. They use double the usual amount of milk, and they pasteurize every drop.

Extremely costly ingredients these. But they do give a better bread. So we benefit through tremendous extra sales.

MANY WOMEN skeptical of what we claim have been directly won by toasting this Wonder Bread in comparison with other brands. This we urge you to do, knowing what you will find. Even golden brown. No scorched edges. Every slice is perfect.

Also, they employ a unique baking method. Wonder Bread is "slo-baked." A method that brings you greater digestibility. More delicate flavor. Longer-lasting freshness.

Please Try At Once

So do, please, as the country's wisest women are doing. Try this new-day bread immediately. Remember to say "Wonder Bread" distinctly. It costs you no more than ordinary breads.

Seldom do you find members of the medical profession recommending any particular food; more especially commending it by name. But when you can safely say that the food recommended must have merit.

"Philadelphia" Cream Cheese has received endorsement from Physicians, Child Specialists and Nutrition Experts. One of the latter has said:

"Too often the child is deficient in the calcium needed to build strong legs and a sturdy body and in Vitamin A which is essential for growth. Both these elements are abundant in 'Philadelphia' Cream Cheese, an important food for children."

"Philadelphia" Cream Cheese is for sale everywhere. See that your children have it in plenty and often.

HOW TO MOLD SALADS AND FANCY DESSERTS

One of the Trends of Summer Cookery Is Toward Fancy Molded Dishes.

To simulate a border or ring mold: Place a small wet glass in the center of a large wet mold, pour liquid jelly around and when ready to unmold, fill the glass with warm water, lift out, and then unmold the ring of jelly on a serving dish, filling the center with whipped cream or cut-up fruit.

To garnish a mold: Dip the garnish into cool, liquid jelly and press it well down into the bottom of mold which has been rinsed in cold water. When firm, pour in the cool jelly very carefully.

If there is to be a garnish between the layers of jelly of different colors, wait until the first layer is becoming firm, but not quite set, arrange garnish on this, dipping it into more liquid jelly and allow this to become firm before adding another layer.

Double molding: Use two dishes of different sizes but of similar shape. Place the larger one on ice and pour into it sufficient liquid jelly to form a foundation the same thickness as the width of space between the two molds.

When this layer is firm, place the smaller one on it, fill with ice, and then pour liquid jelly in the space between the two molds. When set, carefully remove the ice with a spoon from the smaller mold.

Pour in a little warm water, then quickly lift out the inner mold, leaving a space to be filled with some other cream or fruit.

Contrasting colors should always be used. Carefully smooth the surface of the filling and allow it to become firm before pouring on the remaining jelly, which completely encases the filling in jelly.

To simplify the above: Fill entire mold with clear liquid jelly. When firm, with a warm spoon dip out sufficient of the center to leave the space desired for the filling.

Potato Salad Dressing. Cut bacon and onion in small slices, and fry a golden brown. Add a cup of vinegar, a little sugar, salt and pepper. Cook a few minutes, then pour over salad.

THE VEGETABLE PLATE IS VERY WHOLESOME

Vogue of This Type Meal Is a Very Good Dietetic Practice.

One of the big faults to be found in the average American family diet is the lack of a sufficient quantity of vegetables.

Therefore by adopting the habit of serving such a dinner at least once a week, a more plentiful supply of vegetables is assured and a pleasant variety given. Pleasant that is if the vegetable meal is well planned and properly cooked.

Unfortunately some people think that any mixture of vegetables gathered together hit-or-miss and cooked in the same way constitutes a "vegetable dinner."

It does, of course, but it will likely cause a deep and undying hatred to spring up in the hearts of the family for the foods so served!

No, there are rules that must be observed in planning these meals, and perhaps it should be emphasized that more care is necessary in their preparation than when meat is used. Certainly vegetables are more often spoiled in the cooking than is meat.

Aside from the palatability of a vegetable meal, there must be considered the facts of sufficient nutrition to meet body requirements, the satisfaction of the appetite, and the necessity for supplying some form of protein to take the place of meat protein.

Cheese, eggs, nuts, the macaroni pastes (macaroni, spaghetti, noodles), milk, and such vegetables as beans, peas and lentils can be used to supply protein.

Potatoes or the cereals as rice, barley, hominy, or cornmeal are starchy foods and supply energy and staying qualities, therefore they are also necessary in some form.

Most of these, as well as the macaroni pastes combine well with vegetables, with cheese, nuts, milk and eggs and can be used to furnish both protein and energy.

In planning vegetable meals make use of these combinations together—with a green vegetable, some raw crisp food such as celery, radishes, shredded cabbage, lettuce hearts, etc., and preferably a fruit dessert.

Sometimes tapioca, rice, or bread puddings may be served with such a dinner to take the place of any other starchy food.

The following menus will give you suggestions on which to build other meals, and will provide appetizing and nutritious meatless dinners.

Chilled tomato bouillon, baked vegetable loaf with mushroom sauce, buttered asparagus, celery and green pepper salad, whole-wheat muffins, peach cobbler, iced tea.

Fruit cup, baked macaroni and cheese with grilled tomatoes, green peas, cucumber salad, hot rolls, blueberry tart or pie.

Vegetable chowder, salad of whole tomatoes stuffed with cottage cheese and chopped peanuts, bran muffins, cantaloupe a la mode, coffee.

Watercress soup, vegetable cutlets, baked summer squash, cucumber, radish and celery salad, fruit shortcake, iced tea or coffee.

DADDY'S CAKE WAS USED TO MARK FATHER'S DAY

This Tempting Sweet Will Make a Nice Sweet for Daddy's Birthday.

Cookery experts paused long enough in these busy days of theirs to honor "Father's Day" through the dedication of cake to this honored member of the civilized human family.

In keeping with the times, the cake was christened "Daddy's Cake."

To make it take two-thirds cup butter, one and one-half cups sugar, four eggs, three-fourths cup milk, one cup nut meats, two and one-half cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon allspice, one teaspoon cinnamon and four tablespoons cocoa or one square of chocolate.

Cream butter; add sugar and cream again. Add unbeaten egg yolks and beat well. Then add milk and chopped nuts. Fold in sifted dry ingredients and lastly cut in stiffly-beaten egg whites.

Bake in a tubepan in a moderate oven 50-60 minutes, or bake in layers or cup cake pans in a moderately hot oven, 25 to 30 minutes.

PRIZE CHERRY PIE RECIPE

Finished Product Will Be Different From Other Types of Pie. Here is a recipe for a prize cherry pie:

For the crust, take one-half cup lard, one-fourth cup boiling water, one and one-half cups flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon baking powder. Add boiling water to lard and stir until creamy. Set in icebox till cold. Add flour sifted with salt and baking powder. Toss on slightly floured board and roll out. Line a medium sized pie pan.

The filling is made with one-half cup sugar, one-fourth cup stale rolled bread crumbs and two and one-half cups cherries. Mix sugar, cherries and bread crumbs together and place in pie shell, wet edge and put on top crust, which has been perforated, and press edges firmly together. Bake in a moderate oven for 50 minutes.

MEASUREMENTS AND THEIR EQUIVALENTS

Cut This Table Out and Preserve It for Future Reference.

The lesson learned by modern cooks is that correct measurement of ingredients is one of the principal factors in the success of a cooked dish. Consequently, far more attention is paid to measuring the amount of each article that is used in cooked dishes, than was formerly the habit. Family cooks who have been trained in the modern school of cookery, find it very convenient to memorize measuring tables like the one that follows:

Three teaspoonfuls equal one tablespoonful.
Sixteen tablespoonfuls of dry material equal one standard cup.
Fourteen tablespoonfuls of liquid equal one standard cup.
Two cupfuls equal one pint.
One pound of cornstarch yields three cupfuls and two tablespoonfuls.
One pound of butter yields two cupfuls and two tablespoonfuls.

One pound of rice yields two cupfuls.
One pound of rye flour yields three and three-quarter cupfuls.
One pound sifted flour yields four cupfuls.
One pound sugar yields two cupfuls.
One pound brown sugar yields two and three-quarter cupfuls.
One pound confectioners' sugar holds two and three-fourths cupfuls.
One pound rolled oats yields four and three-fourths cupfuls.
One pound coffee (pulverized) yields five cupfuls.
One pound chopper meat yields two cupfuls.
One pound raisins (packed down) yields two cupfuls.
One pound currants yields two and one-quarter cupfuls.
One pound fine bread crumbs yields two cupfuls.
One pound eggs (approximately) nine eggs.

Creamed Sweetbreads.

Lay sweetbreads in cold water with a little salt for one hour. Drain, put into saucepan, cover with boiling water and boil very slowly 25 minutes; drain and when cool separate and remove all membrane. Cut into small pieces and reheat in cream sauce. Serve on toast.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN WHITE AND BLACK PEPPER

Few Housewives Know Both Varieties Come From the Same Berry.

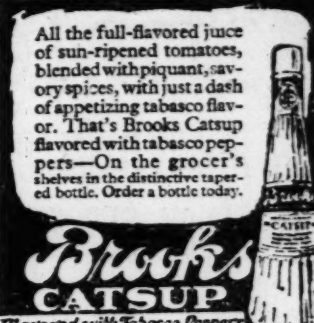

Pepper is probably used more often than any of the other spices. When you reach for the pepper box, do you ever think of the history that has been made around the development of the spice trade? Few of us remember that spices were once literally worth their weight in gold, and that the amount of pepper we buy today for 10 to 15 cents, would once have been guarded as a most precious possession.

Do you know that both white and black pepper come from the same pepper berry?

In making white pepper the outer shell of the berry is partly removed, and as this is rather an expensive process, white pepper usually costs a little more than the black.

It is milder in flavor than black pepper, as the real flavoring strength of the berry lies in the outer shells. In the making of black pepper the whole berry is used.

"... melts into savory succulence at the touch of the tongue"

SMOOTH! Luscious! And then some! It fairly melts into savory succulence at the touch of the tongue ... yet for all its mellowness it has that piquant zest, that sweet tartness that makes a man-sized appetite an asset!

It's Lippincott Apple Butter we're talking about, you know ... the sparkling tang of cider fresh from the press ... a piquant whisper of clove and cinnamon ... the indescribable flavor of red-ripe fruit ... all blended into a chocolaty-brown puree that caresses the jaded palate into renewed youth.

Ask any man whose wife has learned about Lippincott Apple Butter—he'll tell you!

He'll vow that it will convert the breakfast toast into a tasty tidbit to tell the boys about ... he'll swear that, cooked in this suavely spicy sauce, merely passable ham becomes a dream come true ... and pie? Gentlemen—he'll insist that Lippincott Apple Butter makes the paragon of pies! Toothsome, tasty, gloriously good!

Help for the Helpmate!

Your wife, of course, will welcome Lippincott Apple Butter with the ladylike version of a whoop ... for this dainty delicacy is the answer to countless culinary conundrums ... such as: What to give the children when they clamor for food between meals? How to have delightfully different sandwiches for tea? How to economize time and labor and still keep the Sunday night supper guests singing one's praises?

Of course, you understand that Lippincott Apple Butter is the kind of body builder that puts pep into a person without adding inches to the well-known waist-line ... a real revitalizer ... wholesome and nutritious ... But, first, last, and all the time, it is grandly good to eat. Your grocer has it in conveniently sized jars—you will know it by the big, red apple on the label.

"Don't buy harsh toilet paper"

MANY cases of actual suffering and costly treatment have been caused by inferior toilet paper. 580 physicians, recently questioned, agreed that "harsh bathroom paper is injurious."

For your family's sake, don't ask for "just any" toilet paper. Say Scott Tissue or Waldorf. These specially processed tissues are approved by leading hospitals and doctors. They are unusually soft and absorbent. That's why they are the largest selling toilet tissues in the world today.

Bead Soap Wins over Chips and flakes

New soap discovery becomes America's greatest dishwashing soap in less than a year

HERE'S the new soap that's smashed all records in its sweep to success.

A year ago, a new soap discovery. Today, Super Suds is America's greatest dishwashing soap!

Beads—new form of soap
Super Suds is not just "another new soap." It's a new form of soap. Not chips nor powder but beads. It's made by spraying melted soap from high steel nozzles. As the soap falls it divides into millions of tiny hollow beads. Four times thinner than the thinnest chip and flake. Thus four times faster in action.

Compare beads with chips
Let the simple test pictured at the right show the difference between slow dissolving chips and instant dissolving "beads." See how Super Suds dissolves like a flash, giving you instant top suds and instant underwater suds as well. This means quick down-to-the-bottom soapiness—faster, easier dishwashing.

Three reasons Super Suds is better
(as given in 212,960 answers from women.)

1. No waiting for suds. No stirring. No coaxing. Super Suds dissolves instantly. Even in water cool enough to keep hands soft and white. Even in hard water.

2. Underwater suds wash faster. Dishes wash clean faster with Super Suds because there's suds all through the water.

3. No dishwashing necessary. This completely dissolved soap rinses away without leaving a trace of soap film. Just hot rinse. Then drain dry. Dishes will shine and sparkle.

Buy Super Suds today. Use it for dishwashing. For laundry. 10 big cups of soap for 10 cents. Your grocer has Super Suds.

Make this amazing test!

Put a teaspoonful of Super Suds in a glass; a teaspoonful of any chip or flake in another. Now fill both glasses with water cool enough to be comfortable for hands.

Instantly, every bit of Super Suds rushes into suds all through the water. Instantly every drop of water in the glass becomes creamy with soapiness. While in the other glass gummy chips float about, dissolving very slowly.

This is how these soaps act in your dishpan. This is why Super Suds cleans with such amazing swiftness.

PLANNING MENUS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Rib, Round or Sirloin of Beef Provides a Favorite Sunday Roast.

In planning this week's meals use a roast beef for Sunday.

There are several cuts suitable for roasting, those from the ribs being most popular. A sirloin roast is also good, and though it costs about the same per pound as a prime rib cut, it is actually less expensive as there is no waste.

If you buy a rib roast it may be a "standing" one—that is simply trimmed and the bones cracked but not removed—or it may be boned and rolled. If you prefer a rolled roast—one from which the bones have been removed and the meat rolled—be sure to see that you get the bones as they make an excellent soup stock.

The size of a roast you buy depends, of course, upon the number of people you wish to serve.

A solid piece of meat such as the cut from the round or sirloin may be had in almost any required amount; if you are buying ribbed the cut known as the first or prime rib will weigh from three to four pounds, the first two ribs will weigh about six pounds.

The further down the meat is cut on the ribs the larger is the roast, the third cut weighs around five pounds.

It is more economical to buy a roast that is large enough to serve for more than one meal. Cold cuts are especially nice and convenient in the summertime, and the leftover meat can also be used advantageously in making a savory meat loaf, croquettes, a savory baked hash, or a brown ragout.

The fresh vegetables and fruits are abundant now and have been liberally used in this week's meals. Peaches are just coming in, and if you live in a section of the country where they are reasonable in price, you will probably want to serve the fresh fruit sliced on Sunday night; if not, the canned variety will prove equally appetizing. See that the fruit is thoroughly chilled.

In buying your vegetables on Saturday, see to it that you have a variety for the jellied vegetable ring which you will also serve on Sunday.

Any left-over vegetables that you may have on hand in the icebox can be used for this. There should also be some shredded raw cabbage, a little diced celery and one or two sliced pimientos to add crispness and color. A good combination is made by using one cup of shredded raw cabbage, one-half cup each of diced celery, cooked carrots, string beans or peas, lima beans or corn, and one-fourth cup of sliced pimientos. These are stirred into the gelatin mixture when it begins to stiffen.

Tomato gelatin mixture makes the nicest ring, though if you prefer, a mixture made from consommé well seasoned with lemon juice or vinegar, may be substituted for the tomato juice.

In buying canned or packaged foods for your week's supply, remember that the standard advertised brands generally give the most satisfaction. By using them you are assured of a uniform quality and a wholesome product.

HARLEQUIN SANDWICHES

Cut bread very thin and shape the under slice with a round cookie cutter.

Use a doughnut cutter the same size to cut the top slice.

Spread three under slices—one with lemon butter, one with green butter and the third with red butter or jelly.

Twiss the upper slice lightly on top.

Arrange these on a plate so the colored centers will show.

"There are two kinds of flour," says Phil Hahn of the Hahn Grocery Company of 2830 Cherokee, "Standard's Royal Patent and all the other brands. I tell my new customers—if you want to buy the best flour from me you will have to take Standard's Royal Patent Flour, for it is the only kind I sell. My old customers know that other flours cannot compare with Royal Patent. It surpasses all other brands in quality, fine texture and baking results. They know, too, that it is much more economical than a cheap, inferior brand, because you don't have to use nearly as much of Royal Patent Flour in a recipe as with inferior flours. I know, because we have used it at our home for many years, and my customers tell me the same thing."

WHEAT CLOSES MIXED AFTER EARLY OPTIMISM

ST. LOUIS, June 21.—Wheat futures closed mixed after an early optimistic start. The market was influenced by reports of a heavy rain in the Northwest, which was expected to improve the crop. However, the market was also affected by the fact that the weather was still uncertain in the South, and the crop was still in the early stages of growth. The price of wheat futures was 1.10 1/2 per bushel, up from 1.10 1/4 at the start of the session. The price of wheat spot was 1.10 1/2 per bushel, up from 1.10 1/4 at the start of the session. The price of wheat futures was 1.10 1/2 per bushel, up from 1.10 1/4 at the start of the session.

FORCED TO LIE DOWN DURING $40 HOLDUP

Max Frank Robbed in Drug Store—Burglars Visit Policeman's House.

Max Frank was forced to lie on the floor of his drug store at 1212 McCausland avenue by two men who robbed the register of $40 at 9:27 o'clock last night.

A clerk and a customer were held up in the drug store at 4126 Shreve avenue by two men who obtained $125.

Returning home from work this morning, Patrolman Thomas E. Harner, 5410 Reber place, discovered the house had been robbed of clothing, jewelry and a revolver, all valued at $100.

A revolver was reported found on a young man arrested in a parked coupe at 709 South Broadway. The prisoner said he did not know how he got the weapon or the car, which had been rented to another man. The prisoner gave his name as Roy Lyn. He had been drinking.

Police announced they would seek to prosecute Lyn under the habitual criminal act, as he has served three reformatory sentences and one prison term. Recent holdup victims will be asked to look at him. He is under $2500 bond, charged with stealing an auto in Chicago.

PREVENTS SUICIDE IN RIVER

Negro Wharf Worker Pulls Miss Amanda Bauer From Water.

An attempt at suicide by Miss Amanda Bauer, 30 years old, of 4229 Athlone avenue, who waded into the Mississippi River at the foot of Chestnut street at 4:30 p. m. yesterday, was thwarted by a Negro wharf worker.

Miss Bauer had waded to a point beyond her depth when she was observed by Tull Mitchell, 35, Negro, of 2501 Lawton boulevard, who rescued her. She was taken to City Hospital, where it was said she had suffered no ill effects. Becoming ill while in a downtown motion picture house, she sought to take her life as a result of nervousness, she told police.

THE WAY
A WOMAN

By Marguerite M. Marshall

WHO IS TO BLAME?

ANOTHER college girl—18-year-old Barbara Fitcher, the attractive daughter of a distinguished Canadian family—was found in the river like poor Frances Smith, the New York College student. Both girls disappeared without a word of warning. In neither case was there the slightest hint of a love affair, that traditional explanation of the tragic suicide of young women. In the case of Barbara Fitcher, the only conceivable background for what may have been—although she can never know—an act of pitiful despair, is an anguished appreciation of her college work. Nobody who ever was—or ever will be—a girl in college knows the burden of such anxiety as to whether, if she once slips, she can pull herself up, or whether she will be "dropped."

There are too many girls being "dropped" out of college nowadays. The many boys for that matter; but a boy usually takes the unhappy business less seriously—in our opinion, less seriously than he should. To a girl, it's no joke to be asked to leave her beloved campus "on account of scholastic deficiencies." True, her despair over them drives her to death only in the case of an exceptionally high strung, over-conscientious youngster. But the pure agony almost any girl suffers, the hours of weeping and humiliation are not pleasant to think of. Then there is the time and money wasted on a college course stopped midway. Twenty years ago, when we were in college, "flunking out" for women students was so unusual that we cannot remember a case among our contemporaries. The situation is vastly different today. We don't believe modern girls are any "dumber" than the girls we used to know. Who is to blame for this ruthless, torturing, semi-annual sentence from the Dean's office: "Clear out!"?

RESPONSIBILITY, it seems to me, is threefold. The first person the outsider blames is not pleasant to think of. Then there is the time and money wasted on a college course stopped midway. Twenty years ago, when we were in college, "flunking out" for women students was so unusual that we cannot remember a case among our contemporaries. The situation is vastly different today. We don't believe modern girls are any "dumber" than the girls we used to know. Who is to blame for this ruthless, torturing, semi-annual sentence from the Dean's office: "Clear out!"?

But we try it again. "Arabia, Medinah, Mecca, Islam, Laura La Plante, interview, ham and eggs, so many people. Alkafif, Moolah. I give up. How in the world can an interview be accomplished with all of Shriners bringing the wife up to meet Laura, for it was during the recent Shrine convention here that I saw the St. Louis movie star.

JOYS of STARDOM As Seen By Laura LA PLANTE

By HELEN HURD.

HOLLYWOOD, June 21. "DON'T remember much about St. Louis. I left—

"Pardon me, is this Miss La Plante? We're from Syria—I mean Pittsburgh. I'd like for you to meet the wife."

"How do you do? I am so happy to meet you. Do you like them? Well thank you so much."

"Where was I? Oh, yes, we left St. Louis when I was nine, but I remember we lived on Rutger street and I went to Madison School and Oak Hill on Morganford road. Is that still there? We—"

"Excuse me, you are Miss La Plante? I've met you so many times—er, I mean I am so happy to have enjoyed your picture. Meet Mr. Jones. He's from And too. He's a big banker there. He's a good man to know, isn't he? Are you enjoying the studio? Good-by, hope I will see you again."

from the admiring throng, which was not allowed on the sound stage while the recording was in progress. However, Universal Studios had opened all its other doors to the visitors and they were everywhere to be seen, feezes bobbing and canes very much in evidence.

"I am going to stick with you until I get all the details of your life," I said, although one could almost write a book on her personality and charm as she displayed it to the visitors. And it was no pose either, for they were seeing Laura at her worst, if she has a worst, for she had been rehearsing the same scene for two days, in which she was supposed to compromise an old gentleman, and that is enough to bring any one's worst to the surface.

"The director says I lack spontaneity," said Miss La Plante, "but how, I ask you, can a girl effect a snappy compromise when she has been rehearsing it for two days?"

"What and who have you been doing?" said Neil. "Pardon me if I seem to be without a shirt, and what is the delegation outside?"

"Just left Laura showing the visiting Shriners all about the picture business. She'll be back in a minute."

"Laura's a great girl and she will give them something to write home about," Neil said, helping himself to one of the flowers the drum major from Medinah gave me. I had been getting a few flicks in myself with the mystic brethren.

PRETTY soon came a whistle from the walk and Laura had done the quick change from an attractive brown sport dress to blue pajamas. Mrs. Mecca was thrilled to death to see inside the dressing room, and to see the star make up and put on her costume for the present picture, "Evidence." Pleading having to work now, which she really did, Laura excused herself.

current has passed through the body of persons when the floor they were standing on was merely damp.

This is a precaution that should be particularly observed in the laundry and bathroom where water is likely to be on the floor. Never turn on the light while standing in a bathtub of water and there may be an unpleasant consequence if you turn on the water faucet.

with one hand and pull the electric light chain with the other. Nearly every one knows it is dangerous to make repairs on any electrical appliance while the current is connected, yet many do it and the consequences are sometimes fatal.

You are taking a big chance if you try and repair a burnt-out fuse with a common wire. By the way, you may be preventing a serious accident if you report to an electrician a live wire exposed by the wearing out of the fabric covering. Never take a chance on a loose socket.

The electric current in our homes is usually so well protected that under ordinary care accidents are not frequent—it is taking chances that causes accidents.

MIRACUL WAX

-NEEDS NO RUBBING
-NEEDS NO POLISHING

Housewives are delighted at this marvelous new liquid which puts a lasting, velvety brilliance on floors without any rubbing or polishing. Sounds like a miracle—but it's true!

Directions for Use: Wash surface to be waxed. Dry. Then apply a coat of Miracul Wax with a clean brush or rag. DO NOT RUB. THE WAX IS. But apply it just as if you were wiping up the floor, and the result will be a high luster finish when dry.

Whatever kind of floor surface you may have—linoleum, hard wood or composition—you can preserve and beautify them by just using clear Miracul Wax occasionally. Its glossy finish lasts as long as the best ordinary wax.

MEDITATIONS

-OF A-MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

TRICKS IN THE LOVE-GAME.

In these days of professional flappers a woman doesn't appear to age any faster than a comic strip baby.

Ten years ago love was suffering from malnutrition; now it is dying from overstimulation and nervous indigestion.

Considering that love is the most absorbing game of a woman's life, it is astonishing how little she ever learns about when to hold and when to play her winning cards, or how to keep a poker face.

The honeymoon is not over, so long as she regards his absorption in a book as an insult instead of as a blessing.

Marriage is the greatest gamble on earth. But the trouble with most people is that they are peeved and ready to quit the game unless they make a hundred per cent profit right at the start.

Falling in love consists chiefly in uncorking the imagination and bottling the common sense.

One way for modern parents to enjoy a car is to get a cheap old second-hand thing that daughter and son would blush to be caught driving even on a lonesome road after dark.

Many a modern love affair seems to be just one long struggle for supremacy, which begins in the taxicab and ends in the divorce court.

To make a man happy don't tell him that he is brilliant or noble; just tell him that he works too hard, that he spends too much money, that he is "misunderstood" or that he is "different."

WALL STREET AVIATION AND RAIL SHARES LEAD UPTURN

High-Priced Specialties Also in Forefront of Advance With Gains of 10 to Nearly 30 Points.

SENSATIONAL GAIN IN AUBURN AUTO

Some Standard Industrials, Such as U. S. Steel and General Motors Show Only Narrow Changes.

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 22.—Stock prices made further substantial recoveries in today's market, with the railroad, aviation and high-priced specialties in the forefront of the advance. While some of the standard industrials, such as U. S. Steel common, General Motors and American Can, showed only narrow fractional changes, final quotations disclosed a long list of active issues up 2 to nearly 3 points, with a few high-priced shares up 10 to nearly 30 points.

Inasmuch as Friday's call money rate always carries over the week end, the credit situation was not a direct factor in today's market. Wall street expects, however, that the call rate, which held steady at 7 per cent all week, will go higher next week, although predict, a few weeks ago that the mid-year money pinch would rival that of March are not likely to be fulfilled.

Heavy profit taking cut down some of the early gains in the rail group. N. Y. & Harlem soared 24 points and lost 4; Jersey Central jumped 25 points, Texas & Pacific 6, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis 4, and Chesapeake Corporation 2.

Railway operation reports should be available in goodly numbers early next week. Those which have appeared thus far, however, the largest road among them being Chesapeake & Ohio, might have been expected to have a retarding influence for the reason that the net is generally smaller in spite of better gross returns.

Auburn Up 27 1/2 Points.
Auburn Auto, which has only a small volume of stock outstanding in the hands of the public, scored a sensational gain of 27 1/2 points by touching a new high at 207. Columbian Carbon ran up nearly 20 points to a new high at 194, but lost 3 points of its gain. United Aircraft common ran up 11 1/2 points and the preferred nearly 5. Simmons Co., which reports large current earnings, jumped 8 1/2 points on what appeared to be a revival of pool activity. Bendix, Wright aviation, American Telephone, International Harvester, Pacific Telephone and Goodyear closed 2 to nearly 4 points higher. Coppers were again in good demand, with Anaconda, American Smelting and Greene Cananea closing with net gains of 2 points or more.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet, with not important changes in rates.

United Aircraft Soars.
Renewal of speculation for the rise in the airplane shares made that group the outstanding feature of the morning. United Aircraft assumed the leadership of the movement as it soared on large scale buying to new high levels for the recovery. Aside from the placing with one of its subsidiaries of a part of the Government order released yesterday, there was little to explain the sudden resumption of enthusiastic buying of the stock. Perhaps a sleeping short interest had been caught off its guard.

It is many a day since Wall Street has witnessed such an extensive interest in a single issue in the bond market as has been shown this week in the new convertible 4 1/2 per cent debentures of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. These debentures were offered to stockholders recently and have been intensely active marketwise through the week. More than $7,102,000 par value of the issue changed hands in the first hour this morning, almost equivalent to the turnover of $2,400,000 recorded in one of the week's full day sessions. This issue naturally is highly regarded as an investment, but its principal attraction is its status as a "call" on the stock after January 1 next when the conversion privilege becomes operative.

Closing stock prices with other tables and market news, will be found on Pages 5, 9 and 10.
